Snipers, Fire Rake Slums

CHICAGO (UPI) —Gov. Otto Kerner today called out 3,000 National Guardsmen to help put down the rioting which has swept Negro neighborhoods on Chicago's West Side for three nights.

The guardsmen, all from the Chicago area, were ordered to report to their units as soon as they received word. They will be ready in their armories for possible riot duty tonight.

Mayor Richard J. Daley requested the guardsmen after the West Side rioting reached its peak of violence last night and today.

Two Negroes were shot to death and a third was in critical condition. Seven policemen were shot, scores of persons were injured, and more than 200 were jailed as the snipers took potshots from apartment buildings. Stores were looted wholesale, and a rain of bricks, stones and molotov cocktails pelted the streets.

IN ARMORIES

It was expected that the 15 units of guardsmen would be kept in armories close to the riot area, ready to move out in force if police can not control the mobs tonight.

Brig. Gen. Donald M. Grimmer, assistant adjutant general, said in Springfield, "We don't know about street duty yet. We'll have to wait until General Kane (Maj. Gen. Francis P. Kane) reports to Mayor Daley's office."

Kane, of Urbana, Ill., is commander of the 33rd Division of the Illinois National Guard and was put in charge of the riot-ready units.

THIRD NIGHT

For the third consecutive night, police poured into the streets to battle hit-and-run gangs of Negro youths who set fires, looted stores and fought savage gun fights with authorities.

Snipers shot at police from darkened tenement windows. Passing motorists were pulled from their cars and beaten during the height of the violence.

Hospital emergency rooms were jammed with injured policemen and civilians. Relatives stood quietly in hospital hallways. Some wept, some seethed with anger.

Police said thousands of Negroes—most operating in small roving bands—were active in an area of about nine square miles. They faced about 500 policemen armed with shotguns and tear gas grenades.

The dead were identified as Roselend Howerd, 14, whom

Girl Recalls Grim Sounds Of Massacre

CHICAGO (UPI) — Each of the eight murdered Chicago student nurses let out "a muffled loud cry" as she was slain, the lone survivor of the massacre told police today.

From her hospital bed, Corazon Amurao told police of the death cries of the eight young women who were strangled and stabbed to death, one by one, by a tall young killer in their town house apartment yesterday.

HEARD CRIES

Michael Spiotto, deputy chief of detectives, said Miss Amurao told him she heard the cries as the killer led his bound victims from the bedroom where he held them captive. Miss Amurao, an exchange student from the Philippines, saved herself by rolling underneath a bed while the killer's back was turned.

The mass slayer took his victims from the bedroom one by one. In every case, Miss Amurao said, she heard "a little scream—more like a muffled loud cry" a moment later.

One of the mysteries of the massacre—called by one Chicago official "the crime of the century"—was why no one in the quiet far South Side neighborhood heard the girls as they were systematicallly s laughtered.

TWO HOURS

Spiotto and a police artist talked to the young nurse for two hours in the South Chicago Community Hospital where she is staying under a security guard.

Spiotto emphasized he had not tried to make Miss Amurao "relive" her harrowing experience. The main purpose of the session was to get a more detailed description of the killer, he said.

Spiotto said he showed the girl 180 photographs of sexual offenders and she picked out

Marin Nurses Displeased By Salary Action

Say They'll Wait Outcome Of Bay Negotiations

A group of Marin General Hospital nurses today declared they "definitely are not pleased" with salary increases approved Wednesday by the district board.

Several complained to the Independent-Journal that the increases were "simply handed down by the board, and not negotiated as we had asked."

SALARY TALKS

They said mass resignations probably would remain withdrawn "temporarily," pending outcome of salary negotiations at other Bay Area hospitals.

However, Irving D. Chapman of the hospital district board said a majority of the nurses found the new pay scale acceptable. He claimed the complaints represented only a few dissidents.

District trustees increased starting salaries for registered nurses by $70 a month to $500, with a ceiling for head nurses of $710, up from the present maximum of $580. Increases will be effective Aug. 1.

Most room rates will be hiked on Aug. 1 by $6 a day, not $8 as reported in yesterday's Independent-Journal, to finance salary increases. Acting Administrator Thomas J. Sinna explained that higher salaries for nurses will mean other salaries will also go up, thus requiring the hike in room rates.

COST TOLD

Semi-private rooms will cost $38, and private rooms will cost $41 to $47. Excluded from the rate hike are nursery, intensive care and heart units.

New rates will bring the cost of rooms at Marin General up to the present level in most San Francisco hospitals, Sinna said. City hospitals are expected to boost rates to finance increased nurses' salaries.

State Board Of Education Balks At Credential Ideas

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The California Board of Education yesterday rejected a broad policy statement designed to prevent punishment of teachers who participate in political demonstrations.

"This could well be interpreted as an enthusiastic encouragement by the board to engage in civil disobedience," said board member Milton L. Schwartz, Sacramento.

The statement was prepared by the Teachers Professional Standards Commission, an advisory group to the board, and declared:

"No credential (state license to teach) shall be denied or revoked by reason of the teacher's participation in political activity or in demonstrations to dramatize his convictions."

If adopted by the board, the statement would have become policy for the Credentials Committee in the Department of Education, which makes initial decisions in credential cases.

Commission Vice Chairman Proctor Thomson, an economics professor at Claremont College, said the statement would let Berkeley sit-ins, Viet Nam Day marchers and civil rights dem-

Czechs Say U.S. Diplomat Spied

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP)—A second secretary of the U.S. Embassy was accused by the Czechoslovak government today of engaging in espionage and was ordered to leave within three days.

This was apparent retaliation for American spying charges against two Czechoslovak diplomats in Washington.

The Czechoslovak news agency, CTK, reported that U.S. Ambassador Outerbridge Horsey was called to the Foreign Office, which protested to him "against the absurd accusation" against the two Czechoslovak diplomats.

Viet Reds' Airpower Shrinking?

COMBINED AP & UPI

WASHINGTON — The North Viet Nam air force which has lost about one-fifth of its strength in air-to-air combat with American planes has received few replacements from the Soviet Union or Red China, it was indicated today.

U.S. officials said there may have been some replacements, but only in small numbers.

Until late spring, these officials used a figure of 75 when discussing the size of North Viet Nam's fleet of MIG jet fighters and IL-28 bombers. Now they peg that force at about 60 planes.

MIGS BAGGED

Seventeen MIGs have been downed in dogfights with American jets, 12 of them in the past three months.

Over-all only three American jets have been lost in aerial combat out of a total of about 290 U.S. warplanes downed over North Viet Nam in 17 months. The bulk of U.S. air losses in the North has been caused by conventional antiaircraft guns.

Today U.S. warplanes carried their non-stop bombardment of North Viet Nam military targets into the 17th day after flying a record 14 missions yesterday, it was reported from Saigon.

JET LOST

A U.S. spokesman gave no details of today's raids but said a Navy jet was shot down by groundfire while bombing a surface-to-air missile site. Hanoi radio said the "people of Hanoi" shot down three planes on the outskirts of Hanoi today and captured several pilots.

At the same time Hanoi radio

Grounded Drydock Has Sausalitans Concerned

No One Seems Sure Just Why It's There

The wooden drydock, 55 feet high, 130 feet long, and 90 feet wide, was temporarily aground off the Napa Street pier, waiting for high tide. When floated free, it was to be towed to Diesel Engineering and Maintenance Co. at 1702 Bridgeway.

But what is to happen to it there, and how long it is to remain, were unanswered questions. Acting City Mgr. Charles E. Masten, along with many residents, was seekin gthe answers.

There were varying reports. Some along the Sausalito waterfront said they understood the big drydock was to be sunk at the Diesel Engineering yard, to be used in repairing ships.

BULKHEAD USE?

An Alameda shipyard official said he had been told it was to be moored as a bulkhead, with fill placed behind.

Dale Wise, whose father, Delmar Wise, heads Diesel Engineering and Maintenance, said the drydock was being brought to Sausalito for repairs. His father could not be located for information.

This much was learned:

Diesel Engineering and Maintenance Co. bought the drydock from the Schnitzer Co. of Oakland, which is disposing of properties of the former Moore Dry Dock Co. at Port of Oakland.

ONLY A PART

It was towed from Port of Oakland yesterday by Oscar Nimeth Towing of Oakland. Nimeth, owner of the company, said he towed it for Diesel Engineering, but did not know what use was to be made of it.

ROSS LEAFING THROUGH LAWS, SEEKS TREE TAX

A tree tax?

Ross Town Council went out on a limb last night and decided to branch out in a new way of raising revenue.

Town Atty. Robert W. Elliott was instructed to leaf through the laws and see if it's legal to form a tree assessment district.

The decision came after the council discovered the entire $2,000 budgeted for next year's tree work will have to be spent for felling street trees in front of C. G. Hart's home at 18 Fernhill Avenue.

Mrs Laurence P. Easton offered to pay to have two gigantic elms cut down in front of her home at 129 Bolinas Avenue, complaining, "I've become a slave to those trees."

A woman in the audience suggested Ross residents be taxed on street trees fronting their property, at perhaps $5 per annum per tree.

A tree tax? Will it get the axe?

Fiscal Fog Thickens Over County Airport

The bureaucratic fog settled in a little thicker around the Marin County Airport today, apparently grounding any flights of clarity for some time to come.

County - Auditor Controller Michael Mitchell said that restoring $95,000 to the airport budget for fiscal 1967 made no difference in the projected tax rate because he knew even before budget hearings began that it would have to restored.

County Administrator Alan Bruce disagreed, saying that Mitchell had not been given any certain information prior to budget hearings.

Involved was Bruce's recommended budget calling for deletion of the special airport fund and financing of improvements through sale of the facility to the county retirement fund, which would develp it for an investment.

On June 16, three days after budget hearings began, Bruce told the board he had learned that day that the Federal Aviation Agency, which was to put up part of the money for the project, would not approve the funding plan.

Mitchell said he had this information a week earlier from Asst. County Administrator John F. Barrows. Bruce today said he did not think this possible as there had been "no authoritative word" from the FAA until he made his public announcement to supervisors.

Mitchell today issued a certified statement on airport funding, showing that there were no unauthorized transfers out of the special airport fund in the 1966 fiscal budget.

But upon questioning by the Independent-Journal, he said the budget had no effect on his tax projection, because he had already worked it in before budget hearings and before announcing the original projection.

Trustbuster Denies Trip, Suit Link

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The federal government's chief trustbuster denied today that a pleasure trip he made this week aboard an Anheuser-Busch plane had any connection with his dropping an antitrust suit against the giant St. Louis brewery.

Assistant Atty. Gen. Donald F. Turner, head of the Justice Department's antitrust division, acknowledged that he flew to baseball's All-Star game in St. Louis with Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Clifton Carter, executive director of the Democratic National Committee.

But Turner said he did not know, before he accepted an invitation by Humphrey to accompany him, that the plane belonged to the beer firm.

Brown Handed Most Of Laws He Wanted

By NORMAN KEMPSTER

(Last of Five Articles)

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—More than half of the bills introduced in the legislature this year were enacted into law, one of the highest percentages on record.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown said 94 per cent of the legislation he proposed was passed. Groups outside the administration also enjoyed a successful session.

RECORD PRAISED

The Democratic governor said the lawmakers compiled "an outstanding record of progress." And Assemblyman Robert Monagan, GOP floor leader in the lower house, said it was "an excellent session for Republicans."

A total of 340 bills was introduced during the 21-week session. Both houses passed and sent to the governor 172 of them. Many of the 168 measures that failed were similar to bills that became law.

Successful bills included a measure to outlaw the promiscuous use of the dream drug LSD, a proposal requiring drunken driving suspects to submit to a chemical sobriety test and a new law against inciting a riot.

Some of the bills faced serious opposition on their way through the legislative process. But the survival rate was remarkably high.

SURVIVES STALL

The drunken driving bill, for instance, was stalled in the Assembly Ways and Means Committee for weeks. But it eventually won the approval of the committee—over the objections of Chairman Robert W. Crown—and went on to become law.

The measure requires a person suspected of driving while under the influence of alcohol to take a blood, breath or urine test. The penalty for refusal to do so is a six-month driver's license suspension.

The LSD bill was left for dead by the Assembly Criminal Procedure Committee. But when the action touched off a storm of protest, the committee revived the legislation and sent it on its way to ultimate passage. The measure prohibits the manufacture, sale or possession of the drug except for scientific uses.

CONSTITUTION

A package of legislation revising about one-third of the state Constitution, increasing the pay of legislators from $6,000 to $16,000 annually and imposing a tough new code of ethics upon the outside activities of lawmakers was finally approved on the last day of the session. The measures were nearly dead several times but they always managed to survive.

A total of 115 of the 222 bills introduced in the Assembly were passed by both houses. In the Senate, the figure was 57 of 118.

RECORD

The session was the longest on record in an election year. When it started in February, most lawmakers wanted to make it a short one by just acting on vital legislation. But it didn't work out that way as one adjournment target after another came and went.

A partisan dispute over the $4.59 billion budget blocked plans for an early adjournment and as the session dragged on, bills that would never have been passed in a short session continued to move along toward enactment.

In one respect the session marked the end of an era. It was the last Senate to be apportioned on the basis of geography. When the legislature meets again in January, the upper house will be apportioned on a court-ordered "one man-one vote" basis.

House Passes $3.3 Billion Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has authorized the administration's $3.3 billion two-year foreign aid program after beating back by two votes a Republican—led attempt to limit it to one year and slash it by $250 million.

The measure, authorized by a 237-146 vote, now goes to the Senate which is considering a one-year foreign aid bill. If the Senate approves the measure in that form, a House-Senate Conference Committee will be convened to work out the differences.

Actual funds depend on appropriations measures to be considered later.

Four Republicans teamed up with the bill's supporters to defeat 193 to 191 a motion to recommit the measure to the House Foreign Affairs Committee and cut the development loan fund from $1 billion to $750 million.

Rep. Ogden R. Reid, R-N.Y., explained that he voted against the motion because "the longer term will save money and you need long-time planning."

The other Republicans who voted against the motion were Reps. Joseph W. Martin Jr. and Silvio O. Conte of Massachusetts and Stanley R. Tupper of Maine.

Tranquilizer Deaths

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government has introduced evidence at a Food and Drug Administration hearing that some 83 deaths during 1964, 1965 and early 1966 were associated in some way with the tranquilizer meprobamate.

Israel-Syria Patrols Active After Air Raid

TEL AVIV (UPI) —Air patrols were reported active on both sides of the tense border between Israel and Syria today in the wake of a bombing raid by Israeli jets on a Syrian engineering unit working to divert the precious waters of the Jordan River.

No new contact was reported today. A Soviet-built supersonic MIG-21 jet was downed in a dogfight yesterday following the raid near the tiny Israeli border settlement of Al Magor just north of the Sea of Galilee.

Israel warned anew today that what it called Syrian attacks could not continue unpunished.

"It is inconceivable that Syrian excesses could go indefinitely unhindered," Premier Levi Eshkol said in a statement.

Officials said yesterday's raid was in retaliation for Syrian terrorist attacks on the Israeli side of the frontier.

They said six tractors, an arms depot and a Soviet-built gun battery were destroyed at the construction site where engineers were working to divert the river waters from flowing into Israel.

British Murders Off Despite Hanging Ban

LONDON (AP) — Britain last year had two less murders than the year before the despite the abolition of capital punishment, Home Secretary Roy Jenkins announced last night.

There were 153 murders in 1965 and 155 in 1964. Parliament abolished hanging as the punishment for murder in the middle of 1965, but no executions took place earlier in the year because the abolition was expected.

Strike Halted For Election At Di Diorgio

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The National Farm Workers Assn. (NFWA) has agreed to call off its long, bitter grape pickers strike and consumers boycott against the huge Di Giorgio Corp., pending a union representation election.

The fledgling farm workers union and Di Giorgio agreed to the proposed Aug. 30 election just hours after it was recommended yesterday by Robert W. Haughton, a member of the American Arbitration Assn., called into the dispute by Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

Haughton, consultant to President Johnson's Commission on Equal Employment Opportunity, was asked by Brown to investigate a disputed company-sponsored election held June 24 at Di Giorgio's grape ranches.

The recommendations, which could be accepted only on an all-or-nothing basis, stipulated that "there shall forthwith be a termination of all current strike and boycott activities" against Di Giorgio.

Air Talks Stalemated

WASHINGTON (AP) — Negotiators for the machinists union and five struck airlines try again today to settle the eight-day-old airline strike, but both sides agree they are as far apart as ever.

The talks at the Labor Department began last Saturday—a day after more than 35,000 members of the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists walked off their jobs at Eastern, National, Northwest, Trans World and United airlines.

In gloomy assessments after yesterday's joint session, both Joseph W. Ramsey, chief union negotiator, and William J. Curtin, chief airlines negotiator, made clear that the talks were stalemated.

Story Reveals Luci's Plans, Brings Snub

NEW YORK (UPI) —A story about bridal gowns has rekindled the flames of one of journalism's burning questions: When is a newspaper obligated not to report the news?

Women's Wear Daily, the paper considered bible of the fashion trade, and the White House came up with two different answers yesterday.

In the story, headlined "Luci's wedding—first report," the newspaper said it refused to attend off-the-record briefings on bridal details and obtained the story instead through a "leak at the White House."

A VIOLATION

But Mrs. Elizabeth Carpenter, the First Lady's press aide, termed the story a violation of a news release, distributed to other media Wednesday —but with an embargo against publication prior to next Saturday night.

As a result of the WWD story, said Mrs. Carpenter, the newspaper will be denied press credentials for coverage of the wedding itself, she said, "any publication or media breaking the release date on either the sketch or the description of the gowns will automatically be excluded from working press area credentials."

UNETHICAL

She then excoriated the "unethical conduct of one small publication," and said premature release would not change the embargo on the material because of newspapers and broadcasters already committed to the original release date.

WWD said it was flabbergasted to see the White House "retaliate against Women's Wear Daily by refusing working press credentials when all it did was print the news.

Redwood Management Problem Hard To See

EUREKA (UPI)—The chairman of a legislative committee said it is difficult for public officials to find out "just what the problem really is" in management of California's redwoods.

Assemblyman Edwin Z'Berg D-Sacramento, made the comment as his Committee on Natural Resources, Planning and Public Works went into the final day of hearings on state outdoor recreation needs.

Management of the redwood region is "a very complex and controversial subject," he said.

"It is difficult for those of us with public policy responsibilities to reach any meaningful conclusions as to just what the problem really is. There appears to be a major conflict of fact and opinion concerning the commercial future of these trees."

Noting the various plans for a redwoods national park, he said that "while the redwoods park is controversial, the larger question is how to balance commercial and recreation use" of the region.

The committee was told by several state officials earlier that California's population growth makes it necessary to expand recreation facilities.

The three-day hearing was scheduled to conclude today with testimony from Sen. Randolph Collier,D-Yreka; Sen. Carl L. Christensen, D-Eureka; Leo J. Diederich of the National Park Service, and representatives of the Sierra Club, the California Parks Department, the timber industry and other conservation groups.

NOT ENOUGH

It is clear that public facilities alone are not going to satisfy the "enormous demand" accompanying California's explosive growth, Z'Berg told the committee. He said, "we must increasingly look to the private sector to help in this demand."

A suggestion that the legislature adopt a program to take private lands off tax rolls when used for public recreation came from Fred L. Jones, director of the Department of Parks and Recreation.

"Tax incentives can be potentially useful in encouraging greater recreational development of private land," agreed Hugo Fisher, administrator of the Resources Agency. In a prepared statement, he said the federal government should permit increased access to federal lands by the states.

EVALUATION

He also said his department was engaged in a 12-to-16 month evaluation of state recreational needs.

The afternoon tour was conducted by the timber industry. It included a visit to the 90,000 -acre Redwood Creek area, which the Sierra Club has proposed for a federal park.

A number of bills have been introduced in Congress to create national redwood parks in Humboldt and Del Norte counties. Hearings were recently held at Crescent City on the proposals by a U.S. Senate subcommittee.

WAR

gave its answer to the big U.S. aerial offensive that began June 29 with attacks on oil dumps in ethe Hanoi, Haiphong areas—"we have only one answer: to fight, fight and fight." It made it clear President Ho Chi Minh was not interested in peace talks now.

The official Hanoi daily Khan Dan in a broadcast editorial attacked persons it said were acting as U.S. accomplices in trying to advertise the U.S. "peace swindle" — British Prime Minister Harold Wilson, Japanese Premier Eisaku Sato and "traitor" President Tito of Yugoslavia.

"Let them stop committing crimes, that is our warning to them," it said.

The Communists not only sent up its air force against the U.S. Navy and Air Force planes but stepped up antiaircraft fire and hurled surface to air missiles. But they failed to prevent another devastating series of strikes.

Guam-based B-52 bombers blasted Communist troop concentrations in Quang Tri Province just below the 17th Parallel for the third consecutive day in a massive aerial effort to prevent Communist infiltrators from North Viet Nam from staging a new offensive there.

Ground action in South Viet Nam heated up today when U.S. Marines battled Viet Cong troops on two fronts.

At least eight Communists were killed when leathernecks manning an outpost south of Chu Lai on the coast fought off a charge by 75 guerrillas armed with mortars and recoilless rifles. At least 10 Viet Cong broke through the U.S. perimeter and were driven back in hand-to-hand fighting. Marine casualties were moderate.

A Marine reconnaissance team operating in the Nui Ue Dap mountains 20 niles south of Da Nang called down an intense artillery barrage on 300 Viet Cong moving through a mountain pass.

The artillery, along with napalm and rockets delivered by Marine jets killed at least 30 Viet Cong.

South Marin Reading Test Scores Told

Average reading scores of first and second grade pupils in Sausalito and Mill Valley school districts in the state-required test given near the end of school were reported today by superintendents.

Sausalito first graders averaged 1.7, and second graders average 2.7, reported Supt. Phillip W. Schneider. However, the average for second graders in regular classes was 2.9, with those in compensatory classes averaging 2.3.

In Mill Valley, first graders averaged 2.4 and second graders 3.3, reported Supt. G. R. McConnell.

The national norm for the tests was 1.9 for first grade and 2.9 for second grade, representing first year, ninth month, and second year, ninth month, respectively. The tests were given to assess the teaching of reading throughout California.

RIOTING

police said was killed by a sniper's gun; and Raymond Williams, 28, Robinsville, Miss., shot to death near a looted store.

Scores of other persons—many innocent bystanders—were injured by bricks, flying glass and gunfire.

Seven policemen were shot, two of them in the back.

At least 32 persons were admitted to hospitals. Scores of others were treated and released.

By dawn police announced they had control of the area. More than 200 persons had been jailed by that time.

The rioting started in a near West Side neighborhood about 9 p.m. yesterday. It spread slowly and reached a fevered pitch around midnight, when police called for extra ammunition. Priests, nuns and social workers stumbled through the dark streets in teams, pleading for calm.

While the rioting went on, civil rights leader Martin Luther King addressed a rally in a Baptist church on the South Side, about eight miles from the troubled area.

"I would like for all of us to believe in nonviolence," he told the crowd.

OTHO H. CLOSE

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Funeral services will be held here Monday for Otho H. Close, 78, the man who banished the whipping post at the Preston School of Industry in 1920.

When Close took over as superintendent at the Ione prison for youthful offenders, the whipping post still was used for disciplining unruly prisoners. Close did away with the practice.

"The abolishment of the whipping post was a most courageous act for its time," said Youth Authority Director. Herman G. Stark. "It really set the tone for the shift from punishment to rehabilitation."

Close died Wednesday in a Marysville convalescent home after an illness of several months. He was a native of Iowa and a graduate of Stanford University.

ISOBEL DOD

Isobel Terrill Dod, former Marin County resident, died yesterday in a Longview, Tex., nursing home after a lengthy illness. She was 73.

She and her late husband, Dr. Stanley L. Dod, lived in Mill Valley from 1920 to 1925 and in Sausalito until 1932, when they moved to San Francisco, where he died in 1937.

A daughter, Mrs. Gerard P. Kievenaar, lives in Kentfield.

Mrs. Dod suffered a stroke while visiting another daughter, Mrs. Harry B. Mallory, then living in Longview, in 1958, and entered the nursing home. Mrs. Mallory now lives in Newtown, Conn.

Mrs. Dod was born in Susanville, Plumas County, and grew up there and in San Jose. She came in San Francisco in 1915, where she married Dr. Dod, a dentist, in 1919. She worked as a registered nurse for many years at Mary's Help Hospital in San Francisco.

Besides her daughters, Mrs. Dod is survived by four grandchildren in Connecticutt.

Private funeral will be held at Presidio National Cemetery, San Francisco.

Club To Fight Annexation Bid, President Says

"The Homestead Valley Improvement Club will fight any attempts at annexation of Homestead Valley to Mill Valley, particularly in view of the fact that the annexation attempt is merely to circumvent and obstruct the development of the housing for the elderly project."

This statement was made today by Bernard M. Weinstein, club president, who said he spoke for the board of directors.

"We resent the fact that the proponent of this move is not a resident of Homestead Valley and cannot speak for Homestead Valley residents," said Weinstein.

Weinstein referred to Mrs. Mary Greyerbiehl of 20 Montford Avenue, who is spearheading a survey to determine interest in annexation.

threatened to resign today, effective July 30, if their demands for higher pay and improved working coditions were not met. They asked a $600 starting salary.

Wednesday, however, they "temporarily withdrew" their demand to allow negotiations with the newly organized professional performance committee. The committee, composed of nurses from all departments, asked a starting salary of $710, generally regarded as a bargaining figure.

Room fees at Ross General Hospital and Novato General Hospital also will go up on Aug. 1 to help offset pay increases their nurses will get beginning Aug. 1.

Rates at Marin General were hiked $3 on March 1 to pay for increases operating costs and a 3 per cent salary hike for most hospital employees.

A majority of 5,000 nurses in 33 Bay Area hospitals have given notice of intent to resign within two weeks unless salary scales are increased.

Negotiations on an areawide salary scale for Bay Area hospitals were to begin this afternoon in the State Conciliation Service office in San Francisco. Scheduling of the talks came after an interim agreement ended a four-day walkout by 91 nurses at Eden Hospital in Castro Valley.

California Nurses Assn. has asked a salary scale ranging from $710 for beginning nurses to $950 for nurses with 10 years experience.

Car Stripping Discovered At Fort Baker

A search early yesterday by sheriff's officers and military police for two youths who reportedly had a small and illegal car-stripping operation going at Fort Baker was reported unsuccessful today.

Deputies said military police came upon three cars, believed stolen and in the process of being stripped, near the bay on the military reservation about 2:35 a.m. yesterday. Also there was an older model car in which the wallets of the two youths were found.

Police said stripping tools and several stereophonic tapes were in the latter car. Registration of the other vehicles revealed one is from San Diego, another from San Carlos, and the third from Colorado Springs, Colo. Only the San Diego car had been reported stolen, however.

Since the two youths are from San Francisco, and the case is in military jurisdiction, deputies said the case was turned over to the provost marshal's office and San Francisco police.

DOCK

a section of a longer drydock, but could be used for drydock purposes by itself, being sunk, then refloated with a vessel, Nimeth said.

Masten said he had received several complaints about the structure. "People say it's unsightly," he commented.

Some people said more than that. Harold W. Henderson of 251 San Carlos Avenue, who looks down on the waterfront from his hillside home, said it looked like "an old abandoned fortress."

A man who works on the pier commented: "When I saw it, I said: 'They're bringing Alcatraz over.'"

The drydock ran aground about 4 p.m. yesterday. High tides last night and at 11:30 a.m. today were insufficient to refloat it. Nimeth was waiting for a six-foot tide expected at 9:46 p.m. today.

SLAYINGS

four or five which she said resembled the slayer.

He said he was "quite hopeful" the killer would be found.

Albert S. Daniel, executive director of South Chicago Community Hospital, was asked at a news conference whether the killer could have been someone in the hospital, now or in the past.

"When you have 600 employes in a hospital you can have some very strange characters in the group without knowing it," he said.

Josephine Chan, director of nursing at the hospital, revealed at the news conference that a prowler had been arrested three doors from the murder scene and at the same row of townhouses four to five months ago.

More than 160 detectives and 200 uniformed police were thrown into the cast that Coroner Andrew Toman called "the crime of the century."

"It's only a little more severe than the riddle of the Sphinx," said homicide Cmdr. Francis Flanagan, who prepared to question the terrified survivor again today with an interpreter. "I doubt there are many policemen alive who have seen a crime like this."

The eight young victims, all students at South Chicago Community Hospital, were bound, strangled and knifed to death early yesterday in their duplex apartment.

It was not until hours after the killer, a white man, left the apartment that Miss Amurao crawled from her hiding place. She stumbled across the sprawled bodies of the other girls and burst through a second-floor window to a ledge.

"All dead—all dead except me!" she screamed. "I'm the only one alive!"

Parents File Suit For Injuries

A $75,000 suit for injuries suffered by an 8-year-old youth during a play period at Lynwood School in Novato has been filed by his parents in Marin Superior Court.

Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Frieden Sr., formerly of Novato and now of Crockett, Contra Costa County, allege negligence by the school and by the San Jose School District (which is now non-existent).

The child, LeRoy Jr., suffered a broken leg on Oct. 14, 1965, according to Raymond E. Bright, attorney for the plaintiffs.

Driver Injured When His Auto Hits Stalled Car

Jerome A. G. Russell, 39, of Tamalpais Valley was slightly injured when his car crashed into a stalled car on the Highway 101 on-ramp to Doyle Drive, San Francisco, at 12:02 a.m. today.

Russell, of 3880 South Morningsun Avenue, was treated for lid and scalp cuts in Harbor Emergency Hospital, San Francisco.

The California Highway Patrol reported Russell's car hit the rear of a car driven by Charlene P. Sutton, 43, of Forest Knolls, which she had pulled over to a closed left lane when it ran out of gas. Her passengers, Paula McCoy, 31, of 525 Hulary Drive, Tiburon, and Leigh Swigert, 17, of 92 Bay View Avenue, Belvedere, were shaken up but not treated, the patrol said.

Report Praised By Commission

The Marin County Human Rights Commission last night praised the annual report of the Employment Task Force, but asked for further study on the operations of the State Department of Apprenticeship Standards.

The commission also discussed the job description for the new position of commission executive director. Deadline for application for the job will be Aug. 21 The director will start work Oct. 1 at $790 per month.

Commissioners agreed to meet with contractors on the hall of justice construction to seek further implementation of the intergration clause in the contract.

BOARD

onstrators "off the hook" in case they applied for a teaching credential.

However, he said, the statement would not protect teachers or credential applicants who caused "substantial" damage or violence.

Board President Thomas W. Braden, Oceanside, told Schwartz and board member William Norris, Pasadena, to decide whether a policy statement was needed to cover civil disobedience cases and, if so, to prepare one for next month's meeting.

The debate followed an appearance by Neil F. Horton, an attorney for one of the students convicted in connection with the Sproul Hall sit-in at the University of California in December, 1964.

Horton complained that his client, Daniel Keig, had been denied a credential by the Credentials Committee although similar cases had received committee approval.

Dr. Everett T. Calvert, acting superintendent of public instruction and the committee chairman, said the committee rejected applicants whose "attitudes" indicated they might do the same sort of thing again.

Calvert, acting for the vacationing Dr. Max Rafferty, said persons with the "attitude" believed: "If you just have a strong enough belief in something you should just break the law and take the consequences."

The board told Calvert to ignore "attitudes" and consider "conduct."

Kentfield Cyclist Injured In Collision

Van driver Frances E. Lowman was turning into the driveway of her home at 16 Madera Boulevard at the time.

Homeowners Ask Maintenance Of Hub's Trees

Directors of San Anselmo Homes Assn. agreed last night to urge the city council to enact an ordinance to help protect and maintain trees in the city.

They took this action after reading a letter published in the Independent-Journal by San Anselmo resident R. N. Bettini, who was concerned about trees he said were covered with rock and dirt in Redhill shopping center on former Sunny Hills property.

The ordinance would be patterned after one in Novato which regulates the growth and cutting of trees on other than single family lots, according to president Anne West.

Car Hits Power Pole, Driver Rurt

Raymond L. Ennis, 18, of 216 Cobblestone Drive, Marinwood, suffered bruises on his right hand and shoulder when his car jumped a curb and hit a power pole on Miller Creek Road near Las Gallinas Avenue, Marinwood, at 1:15 a.m. today.

Ennis had turned from Las Gallinas Avenue onto Miller Creek Road when his car skidded across the dirt center divider into the pole, the California Highway Patrol reported. He was treated at Marin General Hospital.

Reed Approves Larger Budget

The Reed School District Board last night approved a publication budget of $1,519,036 for fiscal 1967 and pared a cent off the expected tax rate increase.

The tax rate per $100 assessed valuation was estimated at $3.33, up six cents from last year. The increase was shaved because of a two-million-dollar increase in assessed valuation, according to Supt. H. Joe Edgington.

Edgington said the tax rate hike was due to a jump in state school loan repayment from 4½ to 16½ cents, or from $13,727 to $63,614. Last year's budget was $1,207,879.

Execution Set For September

Execution of a Death Row inmate at San Quentin Prison was set today for Sept. 14.

California has not had a legal execution since Jan. 23, 1963.

The condemned man, Dorman Fred Talbot Jr., 26, was convicted last year in the hammer and knife slaying in Ventura County of Michael Bartholomew, 20.

Talbot has been on Death Row since last July 27.

Man Sentenced For Burglary

Judge Thomas F. Keating of Marin Superior Court yesterday sentenced William Harvey Switzer, 22, to one to five years in state prison on two counts of burglary, and one to 10 years for possession of marijuana.

He ordered that the terms run concurrently.

Switzer was convicted on the three counts by a jury July 7. The burglaries were of the offices of Dr. C. L. Hoffman and Dr. Robert L. Mills at 711 D Street, San Rafael, on Feb. 21. He had the marijuana in his possession when arrested by San Rafael police.

Raymond George Menjou, 19, was to enter plea this afternoon in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of car theft. He was arraigned yesterday.

The youth, who lives in Oakland, is charged with stealing a car owned by Howard A. Arneson in San Rafael on June 13.

AN INTERVIEW

Julius Klein Says He Requested Dodd's Help In Germany Trip

By JERRY BUCK

NEW YORK (AP) — Public relations man Julius Klein said today that when he learned Sen. Thomas Dodd, D-Conn., was going to West Germany "I asked him to speak up for me" because the headlines were "snowballing" there.

Klein, a registered agent for West German business interests, said he had been hurt by a 1963 hearing of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee on foreign agents.

Klein is scheduled to appear July 19 before the Senate Ethics Committee investigating Sen. Dodd.

"I knew he was making the trip," he said in an interview. "At the same time I asked him to speak up for me in West Germany." He added:

"I wrote every member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and asked if they would be good enough to explain that I was not tried, convicted or criticized by the committee — only by Sen. Fulbriglit (Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., the chairman). When I found out Sen. Dodd was leaving, I asked him if he would do the same. The headlines were snowballing over there."

The Ethics Committee is investigating charges by columnists Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson that Dodd made a trip to West Germany in 1964 to help Klein retain his clients.

When Dodd testified before the committee June 27, he denied making the trip in Klein's behalf. The senator said he was conducting an investigation for the Senate Internal Security subcommittee.

Klein, 64, stocky and owlish, chain smoked cigars in a white holder as he answered questions about his relationship with Sen. Dodd.

The wall of his office in his suite in the Essex House held numerous pictures of Klein with famous personages — Dwight D. Eisenhower, Harry Truman, Gen. Douglas MacArthur, Adm. Chester W. Nimitz.

As Klein discussed the Dodd case his wife came into the office and held up a brown, fringed piece of cloth, about the size of a place mat. "This is the famous Persian rug," she said.

She was referring to allegations that Klein had given Dodd a Persian rug. Dodd testified at the hearings in Washington that the rug was a $2 place mat that accompanied a Christmas card from the Kleins in 1964.

JULIUS KLEIN
'Snowballing' over there

Here are Klein's answers to other questions in the interview:

Q. Have you ever done any favors for Sen. Dodd? Or any other congressman?

A. Sen. Dodd has stayed in my suite in the Essex House in New York. He was my guest. This apartment is rented by the year. If I'm not here it's available to my friends. Sen. Dodd paid for his own services here.

Q. Have you ever given Sen. Dodd any money or any gifts of value?

A. I have never given Sen. Dodd any gifts of value. I have contributed to his campaign committees from the day he ran for Congress to the day he ran for the Senate. That goes for every other congressman. I've never given any of them a gift. As an old Republican I have made campaign contributions to congressmen whose positions I support.

Q. It has been alleged that in several letters you used strong language to protest the fact that Dodd did not attend the 1963 Foreign Relations Committee hearings. Is that correct?

A. Well, I was disappointed that Sen. Dodd was not there. Being a Republican I had hoped a Democrat would be there. I didn't want any Republicans coming to my defense — it would look like politics.

Q. Have you ever furnished material to Sen. Dodd with the request that he present it on the Senate floor or have it inserted into the Congressional Record? To your knowledge, has he ever done so?

A. I have sent him material to be inserted into the Congressional Record, yes, sir. And to many other senators also, which I have a right to, not only as a citizen, but as a registered agent for foreign interests.

Q. Did you, as it has been alleged, get Sen. Dodd to make a speech in Chicago in 1963 to gain you Italian business?

A. This was the 30th reunion of the Balbo fliers — they came to Chicago as the guests of the city. Among the group was Guisseppe Teucci, who as a colonel in 1940 saved the life of my brother-in-law, Nathan Ticho. He would have died in a Nazi concentration camp. His son, Steven Ticho, will be one of my attorneys when I appear before the Senate Ethics Committee. My family was grateful to Teucci. It just happened that Sen. Dodd was a principal speaker at the dinner. I didn't write the speech. What these fliers had to do with business, I'll never know.

Graham Sees Race Hopes For South

MOUNT LAUREL, N.J. (UPI) —Evangelist Billy Graham said yesterday "progress toward racial understanding is much greater in the South than it is in the North."

"I think the South has a basis for solutions to their problems, but I don't see a solution to Northern problems in the foreseeable future," he said.

The evangelist made his comments during an interview here en route to his home in Monteat, N.C.

He said there is "understanding and friendship between the races" in the south.

"You see, the Southern white and the Southern Negro know each other and are friends," he said. "In the North there isn't nearly as much contact between the races as there is in the South."

The religious leader said the civil rights problem will not be resolved until the whites and Negroes decided to truly love God.

"I don't think there is an ultimate solution until the love of God dominates the heart of people of both races," he said.

"I think it's primarily a problem of the hearts of the people."

U.S. Trade Ratio Likely To Shrink

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The U.S. trade balance—so vital to the country's balance of payments—is likely to shrink by about $1 billion this year, the Commerce Department said yesterday.

The department's estimate indicated that the surplus of exports over imports might fall to $4.1 billion in 1966, compared with $5.2 billion in 1965 and a record $7 billion in 1964.

During the first five months of this year, the trade surplus shrank to an annual rate of about $4 billion. A smaller trade surplus spells trouble for efforts to eliminate the nation's balance of payments deficit, which was $1.3 billion last year.

Officer Unsure Of Identifying A Hell's Angel

REDWOOD CITY (AP)—"Do you recognize your assailant in the courtroom?" Dept. Dist. Atty. James Browning asked policeman Dennis Sheehy yesterday.

"I think it was the man sitting beside the defense attorney over there," the Daily City cop said. "There's a resemblance, but I can't honestly be sure that's him."

Sheehy was testifying at the assault trial of Kenneth C. Krake, 22, of Redwood City, one of 20 members of the Hells Angels Motorcycle Club who were arrested April 14 in a row outside a bar near the Cow Palace.

When arrested all 20 were dressed as Angels — with dirty clothes, scraggle haircuts and unkempt beards. At the trial, Krake was wearing a neat black suit, a crew-cut haircut and was freshly shaven.

The trial continues.

Novelist's Sister, Son Inherit Million

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Novelist Kathleen Norris left a $1,234,613 estate when she died in February, a Superior Court inventory showed yesterday.

Mrs. Norris left $25,000 to her sister, Mrs. Margaret Hartigan of San Francisco, and the rest to her son, Dr. Frank Norris, a San Francisco physician.

Ski Lift Accident Dashes Two To Death In Rockies

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) —A woman and a teen-aged girl were thrown screaming to their deaths on jagged rocks 60 feet below when a ski lift chair snagged on a pulley halfway up a 9,000-foot mountainside. Five other girls were injured in the mishap yesterday.

Dead are Mrs. Lucille Peterson, 49, Orem, Utah, and Susan Carroll, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Carroll, East Orem. They and the injured girls were part of a Mormon camping group taking a scenic ride up the slope at Timp Haven ski resort in North Provo Canyon. The ski lift operates in summer for tourist sightseeing.

Two of the injured girls were in serious condition today in a Provo hospital.

An investigation was launched to learn why the ski chair and cable fouled on the pulley and spilled out the riders.

Utah County Sheriff Ralph Chappell said the chair in which the victims were riding snagged as it passed over the puleys midway up the mountain. It wrapped around the cable and overturned, dropping the passengers to the ground.

The five girls who were injured were "bounced" out of their seats by the shock on the cable, although their chairs did not snag, he said. Twelve other persons on the lift were lowered to the ground by rope.

The newly dedicated National Geographic Society Laboratory in Nairobi, Kenya, will provide additional facilities for the study of archeological specimens recovered by Dr. Louis S. B. Leaky, whose investigations into prehistoric man have been supported by the society since 1959.

Kerr Asks More Pay For Faculty

BERKELEY (AP)—The University of California needs more money to recruit faculty members, President Clark Kerr told a Board of Regents committee Wednesday.

Competition is coming from other universities instead of business or government, he said.

He submitted a salary schedule based on Gov. Edmund G. Brown's 1966-67 budget, calling for a 2.5 per cent increase in academic salaries and a 3 per cent boost in fringe benefits.

FEATURED THIS SATURDAY

Junior Achievement is out to sell itself to young men through the Junior Achievement program. High school students, under the guidance of experienced adult business men, form their own firms and conduct the businesses in exactly the same manner as the senior companies operate. The program is still young in Marin County, but it is growing. The I-J Marin Magazine reports tomorrow on this unusual program for our youth.

Marin is the home of many creative people with bright ideas. One such is industrial designer Norman Steuer. His current idea: Furniture made from corrugated cardboard or paperboard. The Independent-Journal's weekend supplement tells you tomorrow about how Steuer got his idea and launched the project. It also tells you something about the future of this lightweight, inexpensive, easily-stored furniture made from paper.

BACKUP CONDUCTOR

Deciding that the Bay City, Mich., band director would certainly appreciate a helping hand, Tim Weber, 3, climbs onto the bandstand, waves a baton, and puffs his lips to keep those big tubas on the tune. The future maestro made his debut at an outdoor concert last night. (UPI Telephoto.)

STRANGE GOINGS-ON? NO, JUST NEW CHEVVIE

"Mysterious goings-on" on Panoramic Highway beside Mount Tamalpais State Park today were because General Motors doesn't want people seeing what its 1967 Chevrolets will look like.

Residents and motorists were puzzled when huge vans parked by the road, then later cars completely shrouded emerged from the vans.

The explanation: Chevrolet is shooting television commercials of its new models, which won't be unveiled for some time yet.

There was a better chance for sneak previews on Leeward Road in Belvedere, where another series of commercials of the new Chevrolet cars were being shot by Gerald Schnazter Productions. However, at both locations security police tried to keep the public from seeing the new cars.

Boys Admit Marinwood Burglary

Two of three youths who ran away from St. Vincent's School for Boys last Wednesday have admitted burglary of the home of Joan Murphy, 181 Mark Twain Avenue, Marinwood, sheriff's officers said yesterday.

The two returned to the Marinwood school. The third runaway is still at large.

Deputies said they were investigating a report of a broken window at the home when they saw a 12-year-old boy crossing the rear yard. He admitted the burglary, they said, and led them to loot cached nearby which included two sleeping bags, clothing, an alarm clock, and a box of phonograph records.

His 11-year-old companion was found nearby.

Mrs. Carl Honig, 1241 Idylberry Drive, Marinwood, reported her home also was burgled, officers said the youths apparently were not connected with the break-in. A sliding glass door was broken and $5 taken from Mrs. Honig's purse in the kitchen.

Pine Trees Stolen

Austin D. Ward told San Rafael police yesterday someone had stolen two Japanese pine trees, worth $35 each, from planter boxes in front of his home at 41 Forest Lane.

Burglars Take Depth Recorder

Two burglars—one with large bare feet, the other in boots with pointed toes—entered the Western Boat Shop at 101 Third Street, San Rafael, via the roof during the night, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

Forcing a skylight and dropping 14 feet, they took a blue parka and about $3 in cash, then left by a window, dropping to the deck of a boat in the next-door boatyard of Chris Craft Sales.

Treiber Named To Commission

Directors of Bel Marin Keys Community Services District last night named William Treiber as the third member of the recently created Bel Marin Keys Parks and Recreation Commission.

Appointed last month were Robert Angle and Stanley Rakeman.

Directors last night authorized hiring Rakeman as part-time district maintenance man at $3 an hour.

The board also agreed to change pool hours to noon to 4 p.m., cutting out the 10 a.m. to noon period there was little use in the morning, reported Mrs. James L. Zoeller, secretary.

Youth Certified To Juvenile Court

Allan Kenneth Becker, 18, charged with attempted burglary, was certified to Juvenile Court yesterday by Judge Leonard A. Thomas of Marin Municipal Court.

Becker, of 1739 Bridgeway, Sausalito, allegedly attempted to enter Johnson and Gray's, a men's shop at 6 Princess Street, Sausalito, on July 5.

Newspaper Executive Home After Surgery

Edmund T. Leibert, collection manager for the Independent-Journal, was released Wednesday from Marin General Hospital following surgery for a circulatory ailment.

Leibert, of 103 Van Winkle Drive, Sleepy Hollow, had surgery twice in eight days for the ailment. He entered the hospital June 22.

Television Set, Furniture Taken From Model Home

A model home in Pleasant Valley was looted of a television set and a small quantity of furniture, sheriff's officers said today.

Leon H. Johnson, salesman for Roberts and Aguirre builders, 1608 Grant Avenue, Novato, told deputies the burglars apparently pried a sliding glass patio door of the house at 2583 Center Road.

Taken besides the television set were a black leather lounge chair, two sets of bunk beds, a lamp and a bedspread. Officers said the lamp and a portion of the beds were later found discarded at the rear of the home of Carl W. Hawk Jr., 2579 Center Road.

Jerry N. Parker and Robert S. Jerome, roommates at 480 Panoramic Highway, Tamalpais Valley, reported someone pried a sliding window of a bedroom, entered and stole about $100 cash.

A similar burglary at the home of a neighbor, Luella Mead, 420 Panoramic Highway, was also reported. She told deputies $55 in change was taken from a large bottle kept in her bathroom. No forced entry was evident.

Carol L. Eaton, 162 Bay View Road, Tamalpais Valley, said burglars broke a door window to enter. Loot included a bottle of perfume, four pearl necklaces, and a small quantity of other jewelry.

Gasoline Is Stolen

A five-gallon can of gasoline was reported stolen last night from an American Automobile Assn. tow truck parked at the home of driver Stephen De Mayer, 166 West Blithedale Avenue, Mill Valley.

Tomales High Board Elects New Officers

N. Louise Passalacqua was elected chairman of the Tomales High School District Board last night.

Joseph J. Tremari, was chosen vice chairman; Roy Parks, Clerk; Richard Velloza Jr., trustee representative, and supt. Anthony Matulich, secretary.

The board will meet the second Thursday of each month at 8 p.m. at the high school, the same schedule as last year.

The board appointed a five-member committee to screen prospective architects for a new high school, and asked for a recommendation of not more than four architects by July 25. The board plans to interview architects July 28 and 29.

Plans to rehabilitate the present high school were abandoned at the last board meeting because bids showed the cost to be too high. Matulich said the school district hopes to have a new high school completed in about three years. No site has been chosen yet, but Matulich told the board that a title search has shown the district owns the land on which the present high school is located.

Committee members are Jean Adams, William J. Wynn, Matulich, Robert Giacomini, and Ray Romelli.

The board approved hiring 22 students this summer for a work-study program, with the federal government paying their wages.

Marin Group Considering Annexation

The Marin County Mosquito Abatement District may annex 5,000 acres of mosquito breeding marshland in southeast Sonoma County.

Trustees last night asked Mgr. G. Paul Jones to get the assessed value of the area's being considered. These include, along with the City of Petaluma, the marshland along the north shores of San Pablo Bay and marshlands east of the Petaluma River and northeast of San Antonio Creek.

Jones was asked to work out boundary details of these areas with Sonoma County surveyors and the county counsel and to bring maps to the Aug. 11 meeting.

He was asked also to get aerial spray prices from Sacramento Valley operators. The present agreement with Medlock Dusters of Davis is expiring and the firm wants a rate increase from $50 to $65 an hour.

U.S. Reveals Safety Rules For New Cars

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government announced today new safety standards for cars it buys. They include such safety features as head supports on front seats and rear window defoggers.

These and seven other regulations set down by the General Services Administration are expected to become the basis for congressional auto safety legislation later this year.

The standards, published today, apply only to vehicles purchased by the government after Oct. 13, 1967. But during the recent hearings on auto safety legislation, it has been widely stated that federal standards will be made applicable to all automobiles on an interim basis by the secretary of commerce.

Both cthe bills passed last month by the Senate and one now pending in a House Commerce Committee would require the secretary of commerce to issue interim safety standards by Jan. 31, 1967, and permanent standards a year later.

Man Arraigned On Fraud Charge

Harry Leo Ryan, 44 formerly of San Anselmo, was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on a charge of passing worthless checks. He was to enter plea this afternoon.

Ryan allegedly passed worthless checks ranging from $20 to $30, at San Anselmo and Fairfax markets from June 22 to 29.

Armed Soviet Helicopter Forces Down U.S. Craft

BAD HERSHELD, Germany (AP) — An armed Soviet helicopter crossed more than a mile into West German air space yesterday and forced a larger U.S. helicopter to land, West German border officials reported today.

The officials said the Soviet helicopter, with two Soviet officers aboard, moved in alongside the American craft and then hovered over it, forcing it to land on West German territory.

They said the American helicopter had five men aboard and was attached to the 14th Armored Cavalry Regiment, which patrols the Iron Curtain border.

The incident occurred near the West German border village of Heringen, southwest of Eisenach, East Germany.

After the American copter had landed safely, the Soviet craft continued to hover over it for 15 minutes, until West German boarder guards reportedly sent up signal flares. The Russian helicopter then moved back to East Germany.

Marin Society of Artists has Mrs. Robert R. (Doris) Morrison as president.

Searchers Raze Fishers' Cabin

GILROY (UPI)—Police have razed the mountain cabin of Max and Edith Fisher in a fruitless quest for clues in the couple's mysterious disappearance.

A bulldozer yesterday cut away the burned remains of the cabin Fisher spent 12 years building on a pretty hill above Coyote Reservoir.

Only a bare patch of earth remained today, but Sgt. Harvey Hutchings said afterwards that the couple's whereabouts was as big a mystery as ever.

Mrs. Fisher, 51, was last seen at the cabin June 22. Max, 54, was seen five days later, first in Sausalito and then in San Francisco—a few hours after the cabin burned. Officers say that Fisher then faked a suicide from Golden Gate Bridge.

MARIN FILM FARE

'Lt. Robin Crusoe' Ranks As Slickest Disney Farce

By LES DARD

Another weekend is ahead, and another fine schedule of movies in Marin. Here's the rundown:

LIONESS' LESSON—Virginia McKenna and Bill Travers try a feeding routine in giving lessons to Elsa, the lioness in "Born Free." The adventure, along with companion feature "The Trouble With Angels," is showing at the Tamalpais Theater.

RAFAEL THEATER

Most fun for a summer evening is surely "Lt. Robin Crusoe," the latest from Walt Disney and also the most hip comedy he's produced. Marooning a man on a desert island is only the beginning here. This is a Crusoe with a twist.

Title role is played by Dick Van Dyke. Without him, this bit of fluff might fall flat. Van Dyke plays a Navy jet pilot who sheds his burning plane in the Pacific, and drifts to an island. Its sole inhabitant apparently is a chimpanzee—whose dog tags identify him as an astro-chimp.

Crusoe and chimp make themselves comfy. Into this idyllic atmosphere comes native girl Nancy Kwan, exiled by her big daddy, Akim Tamiroff, because she won't marry the man of his choice. Pretty soon, Nancy is joined by her sisters and cousins —who are on her side, of course.

Van Dyke gives the girls instructions in women's rights, American style. But when the chief arrives, their pleas are to no avail until a tribal idol has his say.

Co-featured is "Run, Appaloosa, Run," an absorbing featurette about training Appaloosa horses.

PLAYHOUSE, TIBURON

A truly fine human comedy comes in "A Thousand Clowns," now showing.

Jason Robards plays a TV gag writer who resigns to become an individual and do the things he's always wanted to do. This means the end of conventionality and conforming.

But, he still has a problem—his sister's 12-year-old son who lives with him. A couple of welfare workers investigate and are shocked. They warn Robards he must shape up or lose the boy, who seems to like his life just fine.

NORTHGATE/SEQUOIA THEATERS

Paul Newman plays a brash, intelligent and glib private eye in "Harper," now on screen. He's called in to find Lauren Bacall's roving husband. Harper gets involved with the frantic, sinister world of the very rich and the slick underground that provides for them and preys on on them.

Pamela Tiffin plays Miss Bacall's stepdaughter, who is engaged to Robert Wagner, an engratiating young man who meets a surprising end. Shelley Winters is seen as a fat, boozy one-time film star.

MOTOR MOVIES

Bob Hope's newest and funniest recently, "Boy, Did I Get a Wrong Number!" is now showing. Bob plays a real estate agent who accidentally phones movie queen Elke Sommer. She charms him into hiding her. When she disappears, Bob is accused.

Oh yes, Bob's maid is played by Phillis Diller.

Co-featured is that top comedy that's been around a while—"What's New, Pussycat?" It stars Peter Sellers, Peter O'Toole, Romy Schneider, Capuchine, Ursula Andress and Paula Prentiss.

TAMALPAIS THEATER

It is based on a book by Joy Adamson, wife of a Kenya game warden, about how they adopted an orphaned lioness.

While the animal was young, it was fun. When it got to be 300 pounds, something had to be done. They decided to "untame" her, to teach her the ways of the wild, and then set her free.

NOVATO THEATER

Back with us is that marvelous movie, "My Fair Lady." Rex Harrison plays Porfessor Henry Higgins, who transforms Cockney flower girl Eliza Doolittle into an aristocrat. Audrey Hepburn shines in that role. Stanley Holloway is here, too, as Eliza's free-loading father.

FAIRFAX THEATER

Held over is "The Agony and the Ecstasy," the film life of Michelangelo, complex artistic genius of 16th Century Italy.

Charlton Heston stars as Michelangelo, Pope Julius II by Rex Harrison. The film focuses on one major period of the artist's life, his painting of the Sistine Chapel. A tough job, he really didn't want—but the Pope makes it clear it is the gateway to more lucrative commissions.

Miss Masina—who is also Mrs. Fellini—makes the fateful discovery that her husband is unfaithful. The film follows her reactions, her hiring of a detective, the confrontation with the mistress, etc.

101 DRIVE-IN

The 1966 version of 1939's "Stagecoach," filmed in the Colorado Rockies, involves a stage carrying nine assorted passengers through country in which a U. S. Cavalry company has recently been slaughtered.

Slim Pickens is the driver, with U. S. Marshal Van Heflin riding shotgun. In the passenger compartment is Stefanie Powers, a pregnant Army wife, and Ann-Margret, a prostitute driven out of Dryfork.

There are also some less-pretty characters, like the alcoholic doctor Bing Crosby; the professional gambler, Michael Connors; cowardly liquor salesman, Red Buttons, and a crooked banker, played by Bob Cummings.

Perception Workshop Slates Open House

An open house will be held from 2 to 6 p.m., tomorrow and Sunday at the O'Hanlon Studios, 616 Throckmorton Avenue, Mill Valley, marking completion of the second summer University of California perception workshop.

The two-week course, according to teacher Ann O'Hanlon, resulted in unusual experiments in sculpture, ceramics, batik, weaving, paintings and motion pictures. Movies created by direct painting on clear film will be shown Sunday.

DRAMA REVIEW

Shakespeare Fete Debuts With Caesar

By GWEN STONE

July being the name-month of Julius Caesar, it seemed the right choice as the opening play for Marin Shakespeare Festival's sixth season.

It also seemed appropriate to stage a Roman play after most of the guests had dined at the annual Feast to Good Will, which definitely had the aspects of a Roman banquet. For those less fortunate who missed this year's feast, we can only advise you to circle the time for next year on your calendar. It is an event you won't forget.

Another applicable choice for this play in just such a setting as the amphetheater at the Marin Art and Garden Center, Ross, is that the action of the play takes place in and around Rome at night. This is one advantage over the Globe Theater playgoers who had to view their performances at tea time.

WHAT'S NEXT

With less than a month of night rehearsals plus Saturdays and Sundays, Dion Chesse, the play's director, has managed to stage a creditable production. "Julius Caesar" will continue through Saturday. Next Wednesday, "Merchant of Venice" will be played, "Richard III" on July 27, and commencing the following Wednesday the plays will alternate through Sept. 3.

Last night's production had fast pace, low volume.

Brutus, sensitively played by Ted Samuel, had two voice registers—one, middle-loud, the other, inaudible. Since he carries the weight of the play, one hopes he will amplify for the next performances of "Caesar."

ACTING CREDITS

There were moments when sheer courage alone carried the actors through some difficult scenes, but the bulk of the acting credits should go to Alan Griffin (Marcus Antonius), John McDill (Cassius), and minor but complex roles such as Casca (Richard Matthews), Julius Caesar (John Brebner), Soothsayer (Christopher Muncke), who was seen last year as Prince Hal, Calphurnia (Phyllis Courtney), and Claudia Wilcox as Lucius, servant to Brutus.

HIGH POINT

An exciting moment in the play was the battle scene at Philippi. The spirit of Caesar appears and the soldiers make a symbolic gesture of retreat.

The lighting designer, Mark Rider, deserves much credit for some beautiful effects. Especially effective in the "Friends, Romans, etc." scene in which Antonius convinces the people of Rome of the treacherous murder of Caesar. Gradually the heads and bodies of the crowd were bathed in the color of blood.

The soldiers, citizens, guards, and senators were so well coordinated they became not just a background chorus, but alive, involved people of Rome. This, of course, leads us back to Dion Chesse, the director with the miraculous touch. To risk reaction to an obvious pun on a name, Mr. Chesse manipulates his actors like an expert chess player. Out of what could have been chaos with an ambitious play, he made the roles fall into place, decidedly so in the second half of the play.

STAGE BEST YET

The stage setting this year, designed by John Gerrity, is the best experiment in construction to date. It should prove quite flexible for all three plays.

One minor quarrel with costumes. The color and design were compatible and very Renaissance, but won't someone get up courage and try just plain togas for Julius Caesar the next time 'round?

Strawberry Paving

Strawberry Recreation District Board Wednesday accepted the low bid of $9,372 by Ceccotti and Sons of Marin, Corte Madera, to pave the Strawberry Park parking lot by the end of August.

Fearless Doe Frightens Dogs

GREGORY, Mich. (AP) — Mrs. Clifford Howlett heard her two dogs barking. She looked out the window and saw a white-tailed deer chase one of the dogs up on to the porch.

After flower boxes had been overturned, Mrs. Howlett said recently, the doe turned her attention to the other dog, which fled into the woods with the deer in pursuit.

The dog returned half an hour later, panting but unharmed, Mrs. Howlett said.

Transport Falls, Crew Survives

MADRID, Spain (AP)—A U.S. Air Force C-47 transport plane based in Lisbon brushed wingtips with one of two Spanish F-104 jet fighter planes today while approaching Torrejon military air base here, and crashed, Air Force officials reported.

All nine occupants of the transport, which burned after it fell six miles south of the runway, survived, officials said. Both Spanish fighter planes landed safely.

All three planes were approaching the jointly operated U.S.-Spanish military base 15 miles outside Madrid when the crash occurred.

Red Cross Seeks News Of Soldier In Marin

Ramon Martinez, believed to be in Marin County, is being sought by the American Red Cross because of a family emergency in Puerto Rico.

The Red Cross said today Martinez is in the Army, serial No. 30442007, and is being sought on behalf of his mother, Beatriz. Information as to his whereabouts may be furnished the local Red Cross office, 712 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael.

Ross Tax Rate Of Dollar A Year Just Not Enough, Mayor Declares

The Town of Ross cannot continue to live in the manner to which it is accustomed on a $1 tax rate, town councilmen complained last night after taking a look at this year's budget.

The dollar is the tax rate traditionally levied for general government. With 15 cents for parks, and 10 cents for retirement, the tax rate for Ross this year will be $1.25, two cents lower than last year.

"We can no longer live on a dollar a year," said Mayor Frederick Tllen. "This year we went $14,000 in the hole."

The total budget, $126,317, for the first time contains a capital expenditures reserve fund, as last year the town had to buy a new police car and had no money budgeted for the purpose.

In a council meeting which continued until after 11:30 p.m., the town's franchise for television cable operation was awarded to Tele-Vue System Inc., San Rafael. The franchise, which gives the town two per cent of the operator's gross income, with a guarantee of $100 a month, was awarded for a 10-year period.

Cost to subscribers will be $5 per month, with no installation fee or deposit during the first month of operation. After that initial period the hookup fee will be $25. In homes more than 150 feet from a street or utility easement there will be an "estate drop" fee.

Other bidders for the franchise made presentations at the meeting. They were Clear View Cable Systems Inc., Fairfax, and Cable Television of Marin.

The community TV system will bring in 11 channels of TV and the entire FM spectrum.

Ross property owners whose land is next to the Corte Madera Creek were invited to the town hall July 30, from 1 to 5 p.m., when Town Enginees Phillip Lygren will explain plans for the flood control project.

Public hearings on the controversial project won't be scheduled for several months.

Town Atty. Robert W. Elliott said the county assessor has assessed four house, town property, occupied by firemen under the possessory interest assessment. Tte total tax of $504 would have to be paid by the town employees themselves.

The Town of Ross filed protest Wednesday against the assessments, and the council authorized payment in the form of bonuses to the employees so they could pay the taxes by Aug. 31.

The possessory interest assessment has been levied on lease occupancy houses used by guards at San Quentin Prison and by keepers on Marin Metropolitan Water District property, the council was told.

The Ross Town Council Also:

1. Granted an interim salary increase of 5 per cent to town employees, excepting two employees who had received premature raises.

2. Decided to collect additional information on a population enumeration more up to date than the 1961 figure currently used, which gives Ross 2,551 inhabitants. Vice Mayor Roy Farrington Jones advocated the enumeration as a "good way of building revenue."

3. Decided tocheck costs of renovating the lights on the bridges. Bulbs are broken, the result of children firing B-B guns, and a resident suggested installation of plastic globes.

4. Commended the town police for for control of traffic during the Marin Art and Garden Fair, and announced that 400 parking tickets were issued during the five-day event.

5. Authorized an addition to the town code legalizing one identification sign on single-family residence property. The signs, non-electric and unlighted, may not exceed one square foot in area, and are restricted to the name of the resident or house name.

6. Adopted a nuisance ordinance, which updates existing ordinances and defines public and health nuisances.

7. Put over to the next meeting a resolution of intention to amend the town's contract with the State Employees' Retirement System.

8. Authorized payment of $17,500 for church property at Bolinas Avenue and Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, a right of way action in preparation for widening the junction.

9. Decided to ask the mayor of San Anselmo to ask for a meeting between the two councils on planning for widening Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

10. Authorized the town attorney and architect to proceed against Page Construction Co. to correct a deficiency in the water mains connections on the Town Common.

11. Authorized signing a year's contract with Forster and Kroeger for landscape maintenance of town property at $435 a month.

12. Appointed City Engineer Phillip Lygren to represent Ross on the county's joint planning committee.

13. Continued a variance for one month for the antique shop in the Art and Garden Center.

14. Refused a request by Mrs. Lillian P. Damner, Laurel Grove Avenue, for a subdivision and variance on her 7.878 acres property, because the subdivision would creat substandard lots.

15. Granted a variance to Ross General Hospital for construction of a maintenance shop.

16. Instructed the town attorney to threaten Wyman McClure of Poplar Avenue with legal action because a cottage on the property was rented out in double occupancy.

Vallejo Man Fined

Joseph John Warren Jr., 36, of Vallejo, was fined $276 and placed on six months probation yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for drunken driving. He was arrested on Highway 101 by California Highway Patrol last Tuesday.

Gallinas Approves Budget Of $16,000

Directors of Gallinas Village Community Service District last night adopted a $16,500 budget which will call for a tax rate of 75 cents per $100 assessed valuation, down 15 cents from last fiscal year.

Director Herbert C. Belben Jr. said the budget will cover park maintenance and build reserves for further park development. The total does not include $35,000 carried over as reserves from last year.

Directors last night also dropped the $1 a month sewer service charge.

Belben said the $1 monthly rate and the 15-cent cut in tax rate will actually be picked up by the sewer assessment district so that changes made last night will not affect the total tax bill of residents.

The directors voted to cut one of the two tennis courts proposed on the Desconso Way park after being advised by County Parks and Recreation Director Pierre W. Joske that there was not enough space for two courts.

The original estimate of $30,000 for the development will probably drop by about $5,000, Belben said. Other facilities planned are a tot lot and picnic area.

The directors will probably approve plans at their Aug. 11 meeting and call for bids, Belben said.

423 Dogs Receive Rabies Inoculations

Four hundred and twenty-three dogs received rabies inoculations at a county health department clinic at the Mill Corporation Yard last night, the department reported today.

Clinics will operate from 6 to 8 p.m. Tuesday at Ross School in Ross, and Thursday at the county fire department in Woodacre.

Three Marinites Get Degrees From Eureka

Graduates of Humboldt State College who received degrees at commencement exercises last month included three Marinites.

Kathleen Goldsbrough Allwardt, San Rafael, received a bachelor of arts degree with teaching credentials in business education: John Osborn of Fairfax received a bachelor of science degree in forest management and Robert Wunner of Fairfax a master of arts in biology.

Meeting Postponed

Meeting of directors of Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District was postponed to 7:30 p.m. next Thursday because of lack of quorum last night, District Secretary Helen Foulkes reported.

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

Diners Linger A Little Longer At Tables Of La Petite Auberge

Diners are inclined to linger at the tables a while longer at La Petite Auberge, San Rafael, I think.

True, this is the type of restaurant where the pace is set for a leisurely meal, but in most cases you couldn't chase people out in a hurry if you speeded up thhe action to 12 frames per second.

It's a place where faces at neighboring tables are there long enough to become familiar when you look around, and before you know it—friendly. So when you finally get ready to leave it's almost with the same reluctance that comes with breaking up a family gathering.

This faculty for making for comfort among strangers is one of La Petite's most charming attractions. Another, I believe, is the anticipation for impromtu entertainment engendered by accordionist Al Stone who seems to have a penchant for rooting out good talent and enticing it into the open with chords too hard to resist.

Neither of these things do I consider paramount to the food, which was actually responsible for this restaurant's popularity in the first place. Without the right type of fare it would not have survived the temperment of the public. which is both loyal and fickle. Loyal if it decides the same dishes can be eaten week after week and enjoyed. Fickle if the novelty of something new soon wears thin.

La Petite doesn't have to change its menu very often. An addition here, a deletion or slight change there, from time to time — that's all that's needed to satisfactory its customers.

But noteworthy among new dishes is a chicken casserole a la Normande — or just ask for chicken Norman. It has a wine and mushroom sauce that's positively tantalizing and will cause you to clean the plate. Reasonable, too. A la carte for two — $7.50. On the dinner — add $1 per person.

I see a few other new items or variations—lobster tail Newburg, sauteed medallions of veal, sweetbreads saute sec, and sauteed noisette of lamb.

This is still a place where the connoisseurs gather — including members of the restaurant profession. I saw two of the latter there last Tuesday night. Not to snoop — but because they enjoyed the food.

A NEW SERVICE opening in the Bay Area called Pinafore Girls provides attractive cocktail waitresses for parties, receptions, conventions and other gatherings. Hosts and Hostesses can even choose the girls they want from a photograph album. The service has already become established in Los Angeles, New York and Chicago.

VILLA COFFEE SHOP AND DRIFTWOOD ROOM, at the Villa Rafael Motel, 1600 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael has been issued a wine ad beer license and is serving both imported and stateside products.

Bill Volkerts keeps open seven days a week for breakfast, lunch and dinner. Smorgasbord and good steaks.

IF IT IS IN YOUR MIND to have a god Chinese lunch for a change — not too expensive, try the Chinese club luncheon at Confucius in the Bon Air Shopping Center, Greenbrae.

At $1.75 you get a nice combination of almond chicken, chow mein, prawns, sweet and sour pork and fried rice. Enough of a serving to stick to the ribs and variety enough to make it interesting. It's not necessary to place an order for two or more persons — served on a single.

Another Confucius lunch specialty — heartier fare — is the "Cowboy Plate" (steak and beans). And there is also the regular merchants lunch from $1.25.

MY MISTAKE. In this case, definitely on a Sunday. The Jack Dahl Trio (all Capitol recording stars) is playing for dancing not just on Friday and Saturday nights at Black Point Inn, but Sundays as well. This group is building up more fans each week.

IN SPITE OF completion work still to be done in the foyer, lounge and dining room at Tiburon Lodge, rooms are all booked for just about the rest of the month.

Guests are not necessarily transients in the ordinary sense, I hear. According to the Ben Farlattis, who operate the place, about 75 per cent are relatives who have come to visit residents in the area. The place, says Mrs. Farlatti, is getting to be known as "In-law Lodge."

It probably will be all of another week before the cocktail lounge and dining room are finished and ready for business. Breakfasts, lunches and dinners will be served. No coffee shop operation was originally considered. There'll be a good dinner menu. Big Ralph Lund, chef at the Lodge in Novato, will supervise the food preparation at both places.

TAVERNA YIASOU, closed for the past 10 days to repair damages caused by an errant automobile driver who crashed through the front windows, may be open again tonight.

Beth Taylor and Lou Getas, at least, were hoping for a reopening. But phone ahead to make sure. This is the place across from the Civic Center that serves authentic Greek dinners on Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights. Lunches through the week, with some Greek fare on Wednesdays.

MUST BE that half of all the professional organist entertainers in the Bay Area were at their monthly meeting last Sunday at Lin Fa Gardens in Northgate, where they alternated at the consoles of three organs from noon to 8 p.m. Al Gehl of Marin Piano and Organ Co., president of the club, said they came from restaurants and cocktail lounges in the East Bay, the Peninsula and from as far north as Marysville.

WAYNE HENNINGER, celebrating the second anniversary of the Kettle in the Montecito Shopping Center, San Rafael this month, will hold a drawing for prizes on the 30th. First award is a television set; other prizes are AM-FM portable transistor radios.

Pick up a ticket and drop it in the box whenever you are in the neighborhood.

NEVILLE NOWELL, who has Neville's on the Boardwalk in Tiburon, is now also handling the food operation at the Oakview Club at Terra Linda Meadows.

EATING IN MARIN is big business. Food (store) sales totaled almost 81 million dollars last year, representing the largest volume producer in the retail category.

Besides — eating and drinking establishments in the county took in more than another 27 million dollars (fourth largest, retail category).

Throughout the year, the U.S. Department of Interior's Bureau of Land Management auctions off thousands of small tracts unsuited for public development. Vacationers buy them for fishing, hunting and camping retreats. The land is within the government's 460 million acres of public-domain land mostly in 11 Western states and Alaska.

SACRAMENTO AREA LEADS 'BLAST OFF'

A postcard returned from Citrus Heights, east of Sacramento was leading today in San Rafael Recreation Department's contest for the balloon travelling the greatest distance from its "Operation Blast-off."

Children released the helium-filled balloons from city parks on June 28. Recreation Director Joseph D. Rodota said 26 postcards, which were attached to the balloons, already have been returned.

Mary Wright, Gerstle Park, is leading. Second is Vickie Lamantia, Sun Valley School, whose card was returned from Sacramenti; third is Richard Burr, Bret Harte, with a card coming back from Davis.

Deadline for return of the cards is Aug. 4. San Rafael Chamber of Commerce is cosponsoring the contest and prizes will be awarded to the five children whose cards travelled the farthest.

Maybe He Should've Put The Bill Higher

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (AP) — O. C. Glenn had to leave the house, so he left a $100 bill nailed to a tree for the man who was to deliver a truckload of mixed concrete.

The money was gone when the truck got there, Glenn told police. The driver said he saw a boy running away with a bill in his hand.

Airmen Due Awards For Traffic Aid

To recognize the contribution made by the 1902nd Communication Squadron at Hamilton Air Force Base to air traffic flow and safety in the Marin County area, the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce has started a program of giving $50 awards to squadron personnel.

First to receive the awards were T/Sgt. Jon A. Loehndorf, maintenance man of the quarter, and S/Sgt. Roy G. Harriman, air traffic controller of the quarter. They were presented their prizes this week by Jack Alvarado, representing the chamber, and Charles Bell, representing San Rafael businessmen.

Primary mission of the squadron is to provide air traffic control services and navigational aids for aircraft operating in the area of Hamilton Air Force Base, Napa County Airport and the Sonoma County Airport at Santa Rosa.

T/Sgt. Loehndorf is a radar maintenance technician and S/Sgt. Harriman is an air traffic controller.

Planners To Meet

The Tiburon Planning Commission, meeting at 8 p.m. Monday in the new City Hall, will establish the organization and meeting schedule of the newly created boards of adjustment and design review.

Industry, Rec Plan Hearing Scheduled

A proposed 100-acre recreational and light industrial development at the mouth of Corte Madera Creek will be the subject of a public hearing next Friday before the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission.

The hearing will be at 2 p.m. in room 1194 of the State Building, 455 Golden Gate Avenue, San Francisco.

The $2.5 million project, which has the endorsement of the Corte Madera Town Council, would be developed by Frank M. Burke of San Anselmo, who holds an option on the 97.5 acres of bayfront marshland.

Burke's plans call for a nine-hole golf course, yacht harbor, restaurant and shopping area on the north part of the island to be created by dredge and fill and industrial lots on the southern half.

The Corte Madera councilmen, in recommending approval to the conservation and development commission, stipulated that the development allow public access to the bay and that the developer donate land for a marina green where the creek meets the bay.

The project is expected to take four years to complete, during which the site would be used as a dry debris dump (no garbage) to gain fill.

Total Of Buses Checked Sinks

SACRAMENTO — T total of 1,027,062 vehicles were checked by the 18 border quarantine stations of the state department of agriculture, a slight gain over June a year ago.

The month showed a sharp decrease in the number of buses passing the stations — dropping from 4,939 a year ago to 2,540 his year — due to the Greyhound strike.

As is normal, the station at Truckee on I-80 had the busiest time. That station checked through 174,078 automobiles, 6,195 trucks, and 418 buses for total traffic of 180,691.

Planners Should Heed Reactions From Public

Gerald McLindon, a private planner who has worked with the Market Street Development Project in San Francisco for more than three years, gave San Francisco a verbal spanking at this farewell luncheon last week.

His critical comments could well apply in many respects to city and county planning in Marin.

McLindon lamented the lack of public participation in planning. "This city should establish a strong, well-versed citizens advisory council," he said. He called for creation of a new organization to speak in a unified voice for the downtown community.

At present, said McLindon, too many splinter groups are working at cross purposes, needling each other on some small item about which there should have been little or no controversy.

"City planners wait until their plans almost reach fruition, and then ask the public to react. The only reaction they can have is to take sides, for or against.

McLindon cited the perennial freeway fights as one example of how San Franciscans take sides and dissipate energies.

"I'm convinced there is no other city in the United States that spends as much on planning as San Francisco, and gets as little for it," he concluded.

We sometimes suspect that Marin would give San Francisco a close race in that respect, what with all the plans, revised plans and up-dated plans that gather dust in Marin files.

McLindon referred to Ferry Park, a proposed urban open space at the foot of Market Street, as a symbol of disorganization in San Francisco planning. Ferry Park was planned about 10 years ago, and money set aside, but it has been stalled by lack of coordination. In the meantime, a double-decker Embarcadero Freeway has cluttered up the area.

A similar situation can develop at Marin's old courthouse square in San Rafael. Various plans for the future use of the courthouse square have been kicked back and forth, but there the matter rests.

The problem with many planners is that they want to climb into some ivory tower isolated from the needs and desires of the community and periodically hand down completed schemes which lack support from the public.

It is possible that public participation could get out of hand. A planning effort that attempts to cater to every suggestion made from the floor of a public meeting may suffer from lack of coordination and may never get off the ground.

However, there should be some middle approach where planners can invite an expression of public desire through a "well-versed citizens advisory council" before the plans are frozen and handed down to the public with a take-it-or-leave-it ultimatum.

Second Nestings

We saw another covey of newly hatched quail chicks in early July. We can hear very young California jays squawling in the trees, real cry-babies. And a friend reports a brown towhee is nesting outside his bedroom window.

These are second nestings. Either the first nesting went awry, as was probably the case with the quail, or the fledglings from their first nesting are already grown, as we have observed in our jays and towhees.

"They're to be commended . . . But w hy should anyone want to AID a fire?"

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Why No Name With Statement?

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Your page 1 article of Saturday, June 9 concerning the failure of Supervisors Gnoss and Storer to attend the Eel River Assn. meeting seems to have omitted one important piece of information. You say, " . . . Storer, according to another delegate . . . was only in attendance about half the time."

I charge that this statement violates rules of fair play as well as those of good grammar.

Surely the "delegate" who was willing to have publicly quoted a statement about a man presently running for public office is also willing to be publicly identified by name. May we be enlightened please?

All Assessments, Not Just One

Editor Independent-Journal:

Please correct the misleading statement carried in your brief article which appeared on page 4 on July 12, under the heading "Assessment Petition a Failure."

The opening paragraph states that I submitted a petition with 50 signatures to the Marin County Board of Supervisors in an attempt to have my assessment reduced. This statement is erroneous. The 50 taxpayers did not protest my assessment but were merely represented by me in order to protest all our assessments in the Morningside area.

I pointed out to the supervisors that the Ross Valley area was bearing an unproportionate share of the tax load due to having been reappraised with the result of increases from 28 per cent to 36 per cent in valuation while valuations in other areas increased by approximately 13 per cent. Since inequities between neighboring homes are subject to adjustment I maintain that inequities between whole areas within the county should also be subject to adjustments.

The supervisors were sympathetic but claimed that past court decisions have upheld the assessor's procedures. I also pointed out that this country rebelled once successfully against taxation without representation and the dire consequences of taxation approaching confiscation.

The percentage of increase in land valuation and market value of my home were also incorrectly reported but their correction is unimportant.

Visitor Chides Fair Critics

Editor, Independent-Journal:

We have lived in San Francisco for four years and for three of those years we have attended the Marin Art and Garden Fair. We have each time been delighted by the charm of the whole affair—the imaginativeness and beauty of the gardens, the whimsy and elegance of the amateur flower arrangements, the crassness and simplicity of the commercial booths, the deliciousness of the chicken and lemon pie.

To watch Mr. Sackas catch a segment of a milling crowd on his canvas; to discover that artists who paint or sculpt or throw clay pots are people; to hear delighted, midway ferris wheel squeals; to see square dancers dancing; to walk down the hill from the barn munching peanut brittle.

Marin County is indeed fortunate to have had people with enough foresight to develop a fair of such delight. She is unfortunate to have residents and a newspaper who annually delight in criticizing the gardens (The lake leaked!), the theme (It didn't look like Athens.), the art (It was too abstract.), the chicken (It was too well done), the dancers (They were corny).

It would be better to criticize the unappreciative Marin County residents. Perhaps these persons should be barred from attending the Fair so that those of us who enjoy the originality and charm of such a fair could enjoy it without these destructive, degrading remarks.

If Marin County does not soon mature enough to realize she has produced a unique fair, she will lose her one means of annually demonstrating the creative and imaginative abilities of her residents.

Evidence Shows Public Support For Viet Nam Policy Growing

SAN FRANCISCO—The evidence in this part of the country is that President Johnson is consolidating public support behind the Viet Nam war. The dangers that internal dissension in the U.S. might force the Administration to pull back or will continue to seriously mislead North Viet Nam are clearly passing.

The California Poll, for example, shows a six-point increase in support of the President and there are several reasons which suggest that this upward trend has not reached its peak:

1. There is, I find, a growing awareness that, both militarily and politically, the defense of South Viet Nam is going well, that the Viet Cong can't win. There is a rise of public confidence that we can.

2. MOST PEOPLE now appear to be accepting the view that only increasing military pressure can shorten the war and bring Hanoi to the conference table and, therefore, welcome the more vigorous measures now in progress.

3. By bombing the oil storage installations near Hanoi and Haiphong, the U. S. is fitting its actions to its words. While these actions do not please hard-core dissenters, they do the one thing most needed to win maximum support for the President's course: They remove all doubt as to our commitment to do whatever is necessary to halt the aggression.

This very removal of doubt about U. S. determination seems to me to be doing more than anything else to reduce public dissatisfaction and consolidate the President's support.

The net effect of all these factors is that dissent, while still vocal and visible in the usual places, is being contained. Its power to win any wide public acceptance is declining. It is no longer any serious threat to the freedom of action by the Administration.

OBVIOUSLY this does not mean that Americans anywhere in the country are happy about the war. They aren't. Just the opposite. There are anxieties and fears and hardships and nobody likes them. They explain in large part why Sen. Robert Kennedy—who can make speeches about Viet Nam without having to make the decisions—runs a little ahead of the President in a California Poll showing that in this state both would defeat any Republican opponent, Nixon, Reagan or Romney, if a Presidential election were held today.

Unless there is a successful end to the fighting in Viet Nam before November or a decisive turn of events as would make such an outcome visibly assured, I see no likelihood that Viet Nam can help Administration Democrats in the elections this fall. Almost any political fallout from the war will help the Republicans. The best the Administration can expect is that the issue will be largely nullified by the stronger and well-received course of action by the President. This will leave the Congressional campaign to be fought mainly on domestic and local issues.

On the basis of the present outlook, the indications are that the Republicans will make appreciable net gains in the House—enough to force the Johnson administration to give more heed to Republican views—and the GOP may well add three to six governorships to their present total of 17.

$1.2 Million Wanted For Water Meeting

BY ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — The State Department wants $1.2 million to stage an international conference on "Water for Peace" some time next year.

The money would be used to pay the expenses of some 1,200 delegates from 95 or more countries — including Russia and its Iron Curtain satellites. The parley is to be held in Washington, at a still-unfixed date, and last eleven days. High on the list of entertainment is a banquet by Interior Secretary Udall, and trips about the U.S. to observe "water problems."

PLANS FOR THIS unique affair came to light at a meeting of the House Foreign Affairs Subcommittee on International Organization, headed by Representative Dante Fascell, D-Fla. Assistant Secretary of State Joseph Sisco strongly urged approval of the $1.2 million fund.

This drew instant caustic fire from Representative H. R. Gross, R-Iowa, veteran economy champion. He wanted to know what it was all about.

"I don't know who is responsible for this measure," declared Gross, "but whoever they are, they can't be accused of modesty in wanting to spend money on this meeting. How are you going to spend $1.2 million on a deal of this kind unless you are going to pay the transportation of a bunch of goofballs from abroad?"

"I can give you a little breakdown," said Sisco.

"I WANT MORE than a little breakdown," retorted Gross. "It will have to be a pretty big one to convince me of the necessity of spending $1.2 million on a conference that will last eleven days and include delegates from Communist countries."

Sisco assured Gross that while "we are going to invite some Russians and East Europeans, we do not intend to include Cuba or any other country with which we do not have relations." As to how the $1.2 million would be spent, he gave the following explanation:

"We figure that travel and transportation will run roughly $152,000. Rents, communications and utilities about $180,000. Printing and reproduction, $290,000. Other services will include rented vehicles, exhibits, installation of various contractual services, roughly about $442,000. Supplies and materials about $40,000, representation $25,000."

INSTANTLY ZEROING in on the last item, Gross demanded, "Representation! What do you mean by that!"

"We have two things planned," explained Sisco. "One is a reception for the delegates, and second, an official dinner by the secretary of interior."

"And the representational allowance, I suppose," declared Gross, "is for booze and things like that."

"Well, for a reception and for a dinner," admitted Sisco.

"And this affair is to last eleven days and cost $1.2 million," said Gross. "I can tell you right now, you have lost my vote. I am flatly against it."

In response to questions from other committeemen, Sisco reported that President Johnson will "submit a plan and a program (on water for peace) and his hope is the conference will help in developing ideas for presentation of a specific program to Congress."

The subcommittee approved the measure. It will be considered by the full Foreign Affairs Committee after Congress returns from its 10-day recess. Representative Thomas Morgan, D-Pa., chairman, says he has the votes to put the resolution through.

ADMINISTRATION insiders are saying the stage is being set to drop the 3.2 per cent guidepost on wage increases. According to this backstage word, the President's Labor-Management Committee is meeting later this month to consider a new formula drafted by a subcommittee.

MARIN POLITICAL VIEWS

Campaigners Mending Fences Even During Summer Doldrums

By WAT TAKESHITA

POLITICAL CAMPAIGNING slows to a crawl during this slack period, between the June primaries and the November finals.

Takeshita

In the First Congressional race, for example, you'd think that the man eliminated in the Democratic primaries would have given up the fight. But not so with Phil Drath of San Rafael, the peace candidate who stirred up a strong following in his unsuccessful battle against Supervisor Tom Storer.

TONIGHT AT 8 o'clock, Drath will speak again on "Peace in Viet Nam" at Brown's Hall, Mill Valley. The meeting is sponsored by the Drath for Congress Committee. Sharing the speakers' platform will be Stanford professor George Leppert, Democratic nominee for the 10th Congressional District.

The Drath for Congress Committee hopes to continue these meetings and wind them up with a district-wide meeting in Ukiah on July 30-31. At that time, Drath supporters will probably decide whether they'll back Democratic candidate Storer or stand aloof and keep beating the drums for Drath in 1968.

Clausen was one of the principal speakers during the Senate committee hearing on the proposed Redwood National Park, held at Crescent City last month. This Redwood National Park issue can win or lose votes, depending on the stand taken. Clausen hasn't committed himself as yet on the various plans that have been offered.

Clausen so far has taken this stand: He is for a "livable park plan." But until various hearings are held and all the facts are in, he can't make his final decision. Furthermore, he does not want to push for extensive new park acquisitions if that is going to jeopardize federal funds needed for existing parks like the Point Reyes Seashore. "I have established this (Point Reyes) as my first priority conservation project."

This is a tactful approach. Lumber interests in Del Norte and Humboldt take heart in the belief that Clausen will not support the indiscriminate acquisition of their forest land for national parks. At the same time, conservationists in Marin are gratified to know that the Congressman is giving Point Reyes Seashore first priority.

LORD MORAN'S biography of his most important patient, Sir Winston Churchill, reveals Sir Winston, despite his multitudinous duties and responsibilities, found time to read at least one complete novel a week, mixing up current best sellers with classics like "Jane Eyre," "Candide" and "Wuthering Heights." Two of his favorite authors were Trollope and Alexander Pope.

One day, in a fit of pique at medical men in general and Lord Moran in particular, he told the latter: "Some day, sir, I'm going to write a thriller of my own—and the villain will be a doctor!"

BEFORE BILLY Rose hit the jackpot, he toured the sticks with a frowsy musical troupe. In one town, a sarcastic patron buttonholed him after the evening show and said: "I thought your show was better even than your advance notices." "You DID?" exclaimed astonished Billy Rose, "Yes, indeed," said the patron. "You advertised a chorus of seventy. Why, those girls of yours aren't a day over sixty-five."

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By BRUCE COLEMAN

This Was The Week That Was: Fire, Finances, Fish And Ducks

Taking the week backwards, which when you have a Wednesday deadline is as good as any, this was noted:

Wednesday: "Fire on Kite Hill," reported Fireman Jim Vice. Checked it out and found the fire laddies had put the grass fire out in posthaste. Asked Chief Nook Armager how it started and he said, frankly, we don't know. Asked several youngsters in the vicinity the same question and they gave the standard shrug of the shoulders. It was a good fire—because it was small.

Tuesday: Learned from Ellen Dawson, the fighter of causes at Stinson Beach, that she and her mother came into some money, following the death of a relative, then lost the money, then found it.

IT SEEMS that Ellen was informed by some Philadelphia lawyers, Malis, Malis and Malis, that her uncle died leaving her and her mother each $1,000. A letter came asking if they would accept $850, which meant 15 per cent deduction for collateral inheritance tax. They would.

Mrs. Dawson began writing checks on her deposit and a check bounced. After some telephone calls to Philadelphia, the check was reinstated. The reason it bounced was Ellen had not placed the account number on the check.

Tuesday: Don Stevens, builder, reported that he and fellow workers had just caught a bucket of six or seven beautiful trout with a cat. Action took place in Blithedale Canyon where they were building a wall for the Murray Cokers. What kind of a cat? A Caterpillar tractor run by Bob Babo. The tractor bucket of fish was replaced in the stream.

Monday: Wayne Ziegler, 13 and one-half years of age, of Corte Madera was pulling in fish and crabs at the municipal pier in Sausalito. While the sophisticated customers came in and out of the Trident, towhead Wayne calmly kept dumping fish into his pail of water.

"I LIKE FISHING," he said. He had several crabs which he had trapped, said he prefers crab to fish and that while he cleans the fish, his dad fries them. Wayne had a protege Dave Carlson, also of Corte Madera, with him whom he was teaching the fishing trade.

Monday: Roger Murphy reported seeing a man with a squirrel on his shoulder walking west on Throckmorton and into the Old Mill Tavern. Pub man Pete Bascomb said he does not know the squirrel man's name but that it is a red fox squirrel, a pet and is kept on a chain. "He's pretty well mannered but doesn't drink," said Pete.

Friday: Paul Crowley has been enjoying the upbringing of four ducks by some little old ladies at the Mill Valley Rest Home on Miller Avenue. The ducks lived in the creek with the long name behind the home Arroyo Corte Madera del Presidio. But, alas, the other day three ducks disappeared. Now the fourth has been given to Baptist preacher Rev. John A. MacDonald. Apparently the ducks, actually raised in San Francisco, couldn't adjust to suburban life.

Thursday: Jim Marrotto, former Boston barber now clipping in Mill Valley, complained about things not being the same as they used to be. He said he used to do a single with a taper, burning hairs which couldn't be snipped with scissors from guy's heads. Too, he gave shampoos, egg or olive oil, gave women hair cuts and mixed lather for his father, also a barber.

NOW WHAT happens? Asks Jim. The people come in and the only thing they ask for is a hair cut. "Your arms get tired hanging at the same angle all day."

ART BUCHWALD

Mysterious Greek Fisherman, Aunt Molly Part Of Old Feud

Ten years ago 1,500 newspapermen and women stood on a high cliff overlooking the Monaco Yacht Harbor, and when they were refused permission to attend the Prince Rainier-Grace Kelly wedding, they all jumped into the sea.

I was one of the luckier ones. By a strange quirk of chance I was picked up in a boat by a poor Greek fisherman named Aristotle Onassis and nursed back to health. In gratitude I gave him the gambling rights to the Monte Carlo Casino.

Now ten years later I had returned to this tiny overdeveloped country at the invitation of His Serene Highness Prince Rainier and Her Serene Highness Princess Grace with my not too serene wife. It was an historic occasion, because the Grimaldis and the Buchwalds had not sat down together for at least 600 years.

THE FEUD between the Grimaldis and the Buchwalds started, as everyone remembers, in 1297 when Francois Grimaldi fell in love with a beautiful blonde actress and was going to marry her. But one of my ancestors, a tall, dark, handsome captain named Machiavelli stole the actress away from Francois and took her off to Venice, where the couple escaped the vengeance of the Grimaldis by changing their name to Buchwald.

Alas, the Grimaldis have long memories and in 1612 Honore II got back at the Buchwalds when Fernando de Buchwald was shipwrecked on Monaco rocks and forced into slavery as a concierge at the Hotel de Paris.

But after three years Fernando managed to earn enough money on just tips alone to buy his freedom and he returned to Venice vowing the Grimaldis had not heard the last of the Buchwalds.

EVERY CENTURY produced a bitter chapter to the feud and in 1956 my Aunt Molly, who lives in Brooklyn, had a wedding for her son Joseph to which she refused to invite Prince Rainier.

Prince Rainier, when he heard about it, decided not to invite us to his wedding and so the relations between the two great families hit a new low.

It remained thus until I received the Prince's invitation to take part in the celebration of the 100th anniversary of Monte Carlo.

Aunt Molly was furious when she heard I was going.

"Do you know," she said, "they never even sent Joseph a wedding present?"

"But, Aunt Molly, we never sent them one," I said.

"AND I WAS RIGHT, too," she replied. "Go if you want to, but I'm staying here."

So I came to Monaco and I'm glad I did, because Prince Rainier couldn't have been more gracious. He threw a big ball at the palace for us called the bal des petits lits blancs and 1,200 of the most beautiful people in Europe attended. All the heartbreak and sadness of 600 years were forgotten.

But toward the end of the evening, as the band was swinging and the champagne was bubbling, I turned to the Prince and said: "Say, whatever happened to that poor fisherman, Aristotle Onassis, who saved my life and to whom I gave the gambling rights to Monte Carlo?"

"Were you the one who did that?" the Prince asked, his face reddening in anger.

"Sure. What's wrong?"

The Prince, who has been trying to buy Onassis out of Monte Carlo in a bitter stockholder fight, refused to speak to me for the rest of the evening.

I bit my tongue. Because of one chance remark the feud between the Grimaldis and the Buchwalds had started all over again.

Housing Revision To Be Discussed

Older people living within the community will be given preference for low-rent housing for the elderly in a proposed revision in the occupancy policy to be considered by the Marin County Housing Authority at a special meeting at 7:30 p.m. today at 429 Drake Avenue, Marin City.

Present policy provides that any person living in the county for at least one year has preference, said Donald O. Stutsman, authority secretary.

The revision resulted from a discussion of eligibility of persons for the proposed 30-unit housing for the elderly in Homestead Valley at a city council-city planning commission meeting in Mill Valley Tuesday.

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

Supervisor Has Special Parking While Others Trudge Wearily

FUSSELMAN

He sees "clearly", but not "Forever", does the Ross Valley supervisor. The old immutable law that everything has within itself the power to destroy itself has never been repealed. It's still around and is being energized by things like the following. From an unimpeachable source comes this story—from a person trained to observe and who has a grandstand opportunity to do just that.

HERE IS the story. So that you all may have a clear picture of the locale, this is the plot plan, as it were. The Courthouse, on the west side, faces A Street. Across A Street and just down the hill a bit from City Hall is the Herzog-Rake Building. The supervisor has the office from which he directs his many enterprises, on the second floor. On all the streets around Courthouse Square are parking meters, which are carefully checked by the meter maids. People who have extended business at the Courthouse, including the working personnel, must park many blocks away when the parking spaces on the court house grounds are full and walk that distance or pay a fine for overparking nearby.

The sheriff's department is on the ground floor of the Courthouse and has a chain fenced enclosure for the many peace officers who have business with the sheriff's office, the jail or the courts, in which to park their car.

NOW the supervisor has a private office at the Civic Center complete with telephone exchange service and secretarial staff for conducting county business. He, along with the other four members has a close in assigned parking space for his convenience. This is the official location for their county business. The only time any board member is entitled to a parking place on the courthouse grounds is when he has temporary business there.

The gentleman, however, (as the report goes) has arranged for a special parking spot within the chain fenced enclosure, where "on a clear day" he can watch his car and only needs to step across the street to get it—no walking for blocks and blocks nor watching meters as other must. It is further reported that if any citizen inadvertently drives in and parks in his space it is arranged that this unfortunate one gets a ticket for illegal parking. On the day this was reported to me, the car of another member of his family was occupying the space and contained the family laundry.

This . . . of course is not earth-shaking, but it could be wrongfully construed as indicating a trend. Not very "Clear" thinking is it.

IT WAS my intention to give you today some details of the capricious, shouting, shameful performance incident to the moving of the schools office to Corte Madera. Of all imaginable outfits to make an investigation of that department, there couldn't be a more incongruous one than the administrator's. He even had to ask for 30 days to investigate one of his own departments—data processing.

The operation of this whole complex department of his reminds one of the old fable about the monkey who was so greedy to grab everything in a can that he couldn't get his fist out.

"Something is wrong —" ? Yea, verily. It's costly, too—exceedingly so.

Owners File Damage Suit

Dr. Porter R. Danford of Mill Valley and Fred M. Zukich, Sausalito, owners of one of three single-engined planes destroyed Aug. 27 in a hanger fire at Marin County Airport, have filed a $15,000 suit for damages.

Their Marin Superior Court suit alleges that LeRoy Busch, doing business as North Bay Airmotive at the airport, was negligent in preventing the fire while their craft, a German-make airplane, was there for repairs.

Firemen said the flames, apparently touched off by sparks from a welder's torch, also destroyed the hanger. Dr. Danford, a dentist, resides at 409 Summit Avenue.

Parents Sue Marin Club

The parents of a 3-year-old who died in a children's wading pool at Marin Town and Country Club, Fairfax, last Aug. 15 have sued the club for $100,000.

The wrongful death complaint filed in Marin Superior Court yesterday by Mr. and Mrs. Naiem Dudum of San Francisco, alleges the club and its owner, Max Friedman, were negligent in not having sufficient fencing and supervision of the pool.

The child, Husum Norman Dudum, apparently strayed from his parents who were picnicking at a table near the pool, according to the report.

Sanitary Board Topic

The Tiburon Sanitary District board will discuss representation on any annexation talks by the cities of Belvedere and Tiburon over the district at a special meeting at 7:30 p.m. today in the Paradise Drive treatment plant.

Today is Friday, July 15, the 196th day of 1966 with 169 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter and the new phase; the morning stars are Venus, Saturn and Mars; there are no evening stars.

Dutch painter Rembrandt was born on this day in 1606.

On this day in history:

In 1876, George Washington Bradley of the St. Louis baseball team pitched the first no-hit game in the history of the major league.

In 1912, Jim Thorpe became the first athlete ever to win both the pentathlon and decathoIn field contests in the Olympic Games.

In 1948, President Harry Truman was nominated as the Democratic candidate.

In 1964, Sen. Barry Goldwater was nominated to run for president by the Republicans meeting in San Francisco's Cow Palace. Congressman William Miller of New York was selected as his running mate.

A thought for the day— French writer Henri Boyle Stendhal said: "One can acquire everything in solitude . . . except character."

Double-Barreled Strategy Can Profit By Opponents' Errors

One way to play a difficult hand is to stand or fall on the position of the cards.

A better way is to give the opponents their chance to make a mistake, particularly if you can still make the square play if the opponents fail to roll over and play dead for you.

Opening lead — ♣ Q

South won the first trick with the king of clubs and drew three rounds of trumps.

Then he cashed the ace of clubs and gave up a club, hoping that each opponent started with three clubs.

BAD BREAK

West took the third club and shifted to diamonds at once.

The defenders got in twice with hearts, once to knock out the other top diamond and the other time to cash a diamond trick.

That was the end for South.

South should begin with just two rounds of trumps, the ace and dummy's queen.

Then he leads the jack of hearts from dummy.

PROBABLE RESULT

If East happens to have the ace of hearts he will probably play low on dummy's jack hoping his partner has the queen of hearts and that South will take a finesse to it.

This will force West to take the king of hearts.

Declarer wins the diamond return in dummy and leads the other heart through the ace. This sets up the queen of hearts in the South hand.

Declarer takes the next diamond in dummy, gets to his hand with the king of trumps and cashes the queen of hearts to discard dummy's losing diamond. The rest is easy.

If the first heart trick doesn't satisfy South he can draw the third round of trumps and switch to clubs.

The point is that the deceptive heart play gives South an extra chance and costs nothing.

ANSWER: Bid one notrump.

Your 6 points in high cards are worth a response.

Securities Control Reform Requested

NEW YORK — The head of California's Securities Regulatory Agency called for reforms in state regulations of securities for greater investor protection and flexibility for the businessman.

Jerald S. Schutzbank, commissioner of corporations of the State of California, said here today that the regulations of securities by any state or federal agency "must not be a deterrent which strangles the flow of capital, but rather — not unlike California's approach—an elimination of unfair practices which arise in the securities industry.

"Market confidence is thus attained," Schutzbank said, "and the movement of capital is unrestrained."

He is in New York visiting informally with mutual funds and investment banking groups.

Schutzbank said that "there was nothing wrong with securities regulations which seek out investment issues that are "fair, just and equitable."

He added that approximately 25 per cent of the revenues of national offering are obtained by California and that the mutual fund industry sells 26 per cent of its offerings in that state. New York, the second largest in handling mutual funds sales, handles only 13 per cent.

Schutzbank pointed out that California is second only to New York in generating public share trading volume, that California became the number one shareowner state in the nation in 1965 with more than 2.5 million residents owning shares in public corporations.

The commissioner said that California often sets the pace for securities regulatory practices.

Stock Market Closes With Slight Gain

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed with a slight gain today. Trading was moderate.

Selective investment demand among coppers, domestic oils, rubbers and various of the glamor issues kept the list in plus territory.

Most of the leading auto stocks gained fractions . Late weakness in Du Pont tended to brake the averages.

PYTHON EMBRACES PARATROOPER

Pfc. Edmund Obeido Jr. of Santa Venetia found this 15-foot python near his base camp at Dak To in the highlands of Viet Nam, not far from the borders of Laos and Cambodia. When not wrapped around Obiedo, as if to measure the paratrooper for a meal, it can raise its head seven feet from the ground. Obiedo has been in Viet Nam since March 10 with the 101st Airborne Division and has flown 14 missions as a helicopter gunner. His parents live at 202 Vendola Drive.

Water Board Decision Coverage In Error

The Independent-Journal yesterday erroneously namd board Prsident William A. Marcus as dissenting in a 4-1 board vote that the Marin Municipal Water District assume the sanitary services in the Marincello development.

The dissenting vote was cast by William C. Herup, who doesn't believe the district "should get into the sewer business.

BUTCHER TOO

Bakers, Candlestick Makers Busy On Washington Scene

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Luci Baines Johnson's wedding to Patrick J. Nugent will be a double ring ceremony with rings designed by the bride and groom themselves.

The fashionable New York jewelry firm of Harry Winston, which caters to the Park Avenue set, is executing the designs as White House preparations for the Aug. 6 wedding reach an ever faster pace.

FOR LUCI'S engagement ring, Nugent selected diamonds shaped like hearts to stand on each side of a one carat diamond center stone.

Wednesday, the President's 19-year-old daughter and Nugent delighted onlookers at the District of Columbia Court House when they appeared to apply for their marriage license.

Wellwishers crowded around the couple and offered their congratulations as Luci and Nugent stood in line with several other couples.

NUGENT and the President's daughter filled out their applications. The District of Columbia requires no blood tests. The license will be issued after a five-day waiting period.

At the White House, meantime, florists were busy making up sample nosegays for Luci to choose the one she fancies for her bridesmaids.

THE BRIDE-to-be is busy these days writing hundreds of "thank you" notes for the shower gifts she has received and for wedding gifts that are already rolling in from the 700 invited wedding guests.

For Nugent, however, there are still a few days ahead in which he'll be stuck where the boys are. He leaves Saturday for a two-week summer hitch with his Air National Guard unit that trains at Travis Field near Savannah, Ga.

Day School Experiment Set For Class

Pacific Day School directors Margaret Kelly and Jean Raible report that the pre-school program begun three years ago is ready to become a primary class for children six to nine years old.

They invite interested parents to a meeting on July 19 at 8 p.m. at the school located at 40 Shell Road, Mill Valley.

The pre-school program was based on a philosophy of letting a child choose the most meaningful thing in his life, then showing him how to draw, write, read, add, subtract or multiply it at his own rate of speed in his unique order of preference.

Sometimes called an experiment, the program was worked out by Mrs. Kelly and Mrs. Raible so that the child is guided to create his own best curriculum in an atmosphere making learning a joyous adventure.

The directors say that they have balanced playground and classroom time to provide each child with the opportunity to develop socially and intellectually without gearing his social development to one hour and intellectual development to another.

Sequoia Court Sets Luncheon In August

First Event For New Chapter Is Round-Up Picnic In Sonoma

First event for the New Horizons chapter of the City of Hope will be a Round-Up style family picnic beginning at 11 a.m., July 31 at Morton's Resort in Sonoma County.

Plans include a contest for quickest consumption of a yard-long sandwich, with two contestants starting at opposite ends of the long filled loaf of Greek bread. The traditional mid-summer watermelon eating contest is also scheduled, along with swimming, volleyball, relays, crazy races and a baseball game. "Plenty of Western-style grub and a few surprise events" are promised by co-chairman, Mrs. Richard Friedman of Tiburon.

THE CHAPTER has been so recently organized that it is still operating with an interim board, headed by Ronald Rouda, president, of Tiburon. It is the second City of Hope chapter in Marin County. Membership is open to couples who are interested in assisting those stricken with serious illness through the City of Hope program.

Uniform for the hostesses at the picnic will be red bandana print dresses made of paper. "They are very inexpensive and disposable," said Julie Friedman. "We thought they would make a colorful and practical picnic outfit. However guests of all ages are welcome to wear whatever clothing they choose to the family outing."

MRS. DONALD Kamler of San Rafael is co-chairman. Mrs. Robert Morehead of Tiburon, reservations chairman; Mrs. Nicholas Andros, Corte Madera, food; William Moriarty and Richard Bernstein, both of Tiburon, games; Messrs. and Mesdames Sandy Coplin, Michael Goodman, Evan Hirsch, Robert McGowan and Roberta Rouda, will assist.

THE SHAPE IS EASY

Suits with pants are appearing day and night this fall in the feminine wardrobe. John Moore adds sparkle to the trousers of this evening suit by sprinkling them with rhinestones. The shape is easy with wide bell bottoms and a floppy jacket. (UPI Telephoto)

HELEN HELP US!

DEAR HELEN:

I applied for a job — not top security, just an ordinary job, though it was one of those management trainee positions that might lead to bigger things in a large organization.

With an M.S. degree and good references, I figured a general interview was enough.

I was wrong! Not only did I fill out a form that told all my past history, including "Do you gamble, drink, or have you ever had VD; and name your traffic citations"; but they gave me a lie detector test and asked questions like, "Have you ever taken dope?" "Are you attracted to other men?" "Do panties on a clothesline mean anything to you?" "Have you been unfaithful to your wife?"

Meanwhile my wife was being visited, without warning, by the wife of one of the executives—and in the morning when she would least be ready for it. I heard later they do this to see whether wives will qualify on "the team."

I went through all this because others seemed to accept it. Several of my friends working for the company said it was "just routine."

But the more I thought, the madder I got. Finally when the letter came through stating, "We are pleased to offer you the position." . . . I wrote back and said, in effect:

" I am pleased to tell you that you can take your job and stuff it!" — Did I do wrong? —INDIVIDUALIST

DEAR IN:

You did right! This kind of interrogation is as disgusting as putting two-way mirrors in the washroom.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

I have been married over a year and my husband is in the Service.

Our baby was born while I was living with my parents and my husband was in Viet Nam. Now, after being wounded, he is back in the States and stationed in Fort Knox, Ky., for the rest of his 13 months.

Helen, I feel very obligated to my folks for all these things they have done for me and the baby. In fact, I never really left home. My husband wants me to join him at the post, but my parents are dead set against it.

They feel that because I am only 18 I would not be able to cope with the problems that may arise, especially with the baby.

I want very much to be with my husband but I don't want to hurt my parents. Help!—TORN BETWEEN

DEAR TORN:

Your parents allowed your marriage; they should assume you're old enough to be a full-time wife. Prove it with a one-way ticket to Fort Knox. (There's no airline charge for infants.)—H.

DEAR HELEN:

A friend of ours was married three years, then divorced because her husband was never satisfied, didn't trust her, was completely juvenile. She is now 29 years old, and has met another man she would like to date.

Problem is she lives at home and her mother and father won't allow this man to visit her. They say she went through enough and their hearts have been broken, so she should be happy staying home with them. Her mother says, "Why be a slave to a man, and have children?"

What advice would you give her?—CONCERNED FRIENDS

DEAR FRIENDS:

I'd say she is too parent-dominated to make a good wife—which may have been the cause of the first break-up. If she can't break out, get an apartment and a life of her own, then she'd better resign herself to "no man's land."—H.

MARINE RESERVES ON THE MOVE IN MARIN

Union Leaders Declare They Oppose Reagan

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—California union leaders have called Republican gubernatorial candidate Ronald Reagan a threat to labor and plan an extensive campaign for Democratic Gov. Brown.

State AFL-CIO chief Thomas L. Pitts said yesterday that national and state labor leaders plan a major campaign in this year's California elections.

Pitts said it would equal labor's massive and successful campaign against the "right-to-work" proposal on California's 1958 ballot. The issues this time are equally important, Pitts said.

The 80 leaders, at an all-day session at the St. Francis Hotel, set a goal of $1.4 million to finance the drive—$1 for every AFL-CIO member in California.

Pitts said the planned drive includes greatly stepped-up work in registering and educating voters and getting them to the polls.

He said the AFL-CIO is concerned that "right-wing elements" are concentrating on the liberal California congressmen—all of them Democratic—elected in 1964.

The re-election of Brown and "friendly" state legislators also are prime targets, he said.

Reagan, "has not shown himself to be the type of material acceptable to the working people of this state," Pitts said. "He speaks the lines of the conservative element of this state—he's not even repudiated support by the John Birch Society."

The meeting at the St. Francis was attended by nearly half a dozen international union presidents. They met with labor's Committee on Political Education as they usually do before a general election.

Lunar Night Again Falls On Surveyor

PASADENA (AP) — Surveyor 1, America's camera spacecraft on the moon, is engulfed in its second lunar night, its future uncertain, but its past a triumph.

Surveyor may be electronically dead, but scientists at Jet Propulsion Laboratory are not certain. They will wait three weeks before writing an official end for the craft, which sent 11,150 pictures back from the moon.

The 620-pound Surveyor was the first of a seven-shot series that exceeded the fondest hopes for success.

It made the first successful soft landing on the moon June 1, briskly photographed itself before focusing on its surroundings, survived the 260-degree temperature of the lunar day and endured its first 14-day lunar night at minus-260 degrees to send a second series of pictures.

Wednesday, the sun set on the moon, and Surveyor again went into the lunar night, its battery weakened.

Scientists say there is a chance that power from the sun could revive the spacecraft once again.

Teen-Age Interracial Theater Organizing

There are a few more vacancies for actors and persons wishing to learn to act with the Oops Troop, a teen-age interracial theater.

The troop, which begins presenting a play, improvisations and theater games Aug. 10 in Brown's Hall, Mill Valley, is directed by Mark Rider of Homestead Valley. Activities run to Sept. 2. Further information may be obtained from Mrs. Suzanne Lowry of Mill Valley.

Thirty-year memership pins will be presented to Cora F. Hansen and Louise Gareis, 25 year pins to Herta Gore, Thyra Strom, Loretta Dias, Edna Wurz, and Amy Horner, and 20 year pins to Pauline Nelson, Geraldine Riley, and Gertrude Norton.

Reagan Received 27,422 Demos' Write-In Ballots

Former San Francisco mayor George Christopher received 13,058 Democratic write-ins in placing second behind Reagan and Los Angeles mayor Samuel Yorty polled 3,993 write-in Republicans ballots coming out second-best behind Brown.

Long-Term Sentence For Pigeon Lover

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — James A. Schroeder, 33, convicted of breaking the city's law against feeding pigeons except in nine designated areas, has received sentence.

He must feed pigeons in the approved areas the first Sunday of every month for the next two years, Municipal Court Judge Elton C. Lawless ruled recently.

Ross Council Hears Fair Complaints

Ross Town Council was asked to "send the Marin Art and Garden Fair packing to the Civic Center where it belongs" at its meeting last night.

A series of letters from irate Ross residents was read, all asking the town to get the fair moved ont of Ross.

"I'm sure Herman Hein rolled over in his grave and the Greek Gods doubled up with laughter," she wrote. (Landscape architect Hein was a founder of the Center.) She called the fair cheap, the smell "nauseating."

This writer told the council: "I caught one man, aged about 35, about to pick a magnolia for his wife and child."

The council decided not to write to the Marin County Board of Supervisors as requested, but to leave it up to the council's coordinating committee with the Art and Garden Center.

Tuesday the supervisors announced a meeting with center officals to discuss the fair will be held next week. Supervisors reported they also received complaints about the honky tonk atmosphere.

Carbon Monoxide May Cause Heart Attacks Of Smokers Who Inhale

VAN DELLEN

A Danish professor suggests that carbon monoxide may be responsible for the high incidence of heart attacks among smokers who inhale. His theory is based on finding less oxygen in the blood of smokers with circulatory disorders.

More recently carbon dioxide (not monoxide) entered the circulatory picture in a more beneficial way. According to Drs. Sol Sobel, Martin Kaplitt and Philip Sawyer, a jet of carbon dioxide under high pressure will strip away deposits within hardened arteries.

THE AFFECTED segment of the vessel is isolated by clamps and the gas is injected between the outer arterial wall and the diseased inner layer. The Brooklyn surgeons found that the outer layer blows up like a sausage and the diseased inner core can be pulled out through a small slit in the artery. The early results in 12 persons with poor circulation to the legs was most gratifying.

EVERY YEAR several athletes drop dead within an hour after working out. Some were ill with a respiratory, kidney, as gastrointestinal infection.

OTHERS COLLAPSED because of the heat. The heart also was blamed even though many had been healthy and participated in athletics for years without developing cardiac symptoms. At autopsy a defeat of the coronary arteries was found that could not possibly have been detected via an examination and electrocardiogram during life.

The paper-thin, soft heart valves make a perfect patch for punctured eardrums. According to Medical World News, Dr. C. Bruce Cornish, a New Zealand ear surgeon has improved the hearing in almost 100 persons by grafting a heart-valve patch in the eardrum.

The valve cusps are obtained at autopsy and immediately freeze-dried. They are kept in a tissue bank until needed. The procedure can be done successfully on persons of all ages including small children.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

STUFFY NOSE

D. E. writes: My doctor tells me I have vasomotor rhinitis, which seems to me to be more like a constant cold. Can you tell me something about this condition?

REPLY

Vasomotor rhinitis causes sneezing associated with nasal discharge and obstruction, hence does resemble a cold. The cause is allergy and the most common culprits are dust, animal dander, feathers and sudden changes in temperature.

BLIND SACS

H. A. writes: Is Meckel's diverticulitis the same as appendicits?

REPLY

Not the same, even though both are pockets that protrude from the bowel on the lower right side.

SALTING EVERYTHING

E. B. writes: Does using lots of salt harm the health of a 16-year-old boy?

REPLY

No, except that excesses of all kinds are inadvisable. There are a few medical conditions, however, associated with an abnormal craving for salt.

VITAMIN C SOURCE

B. P. write: Are citrus fruits good for weak gums?

REPLY

Only if scurvy exists and the gums bleed and are swollen.

RUPTURED DIVERTICULUM

J. A. writes: Is rupture of a diverticulum serious?

REPLY

Yes, because peritonitis or an abscess may follow.

EYE DISTURBANCES

A. B. T. writes: Is pterygium the same as arcus senilis?

REPLY

No. Pterygium is a triangular fold of membrane growing over the white of the eye toward the clear cornea. It is more common in middle aged and older persons. Arcus senilis is a pale halo that follows the rim of the cornea in elderly persons.

PINWORMS IN ADULTS

B. H. writes: Can adults be afflicted with pinworms?

REPLY

Yes, but pinworms prefer children and these pests usually disappear after adolescence. Either adults practice better hygiene or the change in the glandular system produces secretion that pinworms do not like.

NO BLOOD FORMER

C. G. writes: Will drinking lots of grape juice form blood?

REPLY

No. Don't be misled by the color.

ROUGH SKIN

Mrs. W. A. writes: My 3-year-old grandson has unusually dry and rough skin, especially on his palms and legs. Can anything be done?

REPLY

There are many salves and lotions containing oil, find out what is making the skin dry. Several skin, glandular, and allergic disorders as well as a vitamin deficiency are capable of causing dryness and roughness.

TOOTH ERUPTION

Mrs. M. F. writes: Are the gums lanced any more in children to help a tooth come through?

REPLY

No, because the gum may heal before the tooth erupts. Now and then the dentist may remove the underlying tissue when tooth eruption is delayed.

REAGAN OUT, TAYLOR NEW VIDEO HOST

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor Robert Taylor was named yesterday to replace Ronald Reagan as the host of the "Death Valley Days" television series.

Hugo Riemer, president of U. S. Borax, sponsors of the program, said Taylor will host 52 episodes when the program begins its 15th season next October.

The replacement of Reagan, Riemer said, was necessary because of Reagan's recent nomination for governor of California in the Republican primary election.

Fire Chief Finds His Truck Ailing

Just by chance yesterday, Marinwood Fire Chief James Cameron discovered that the rear axle on the department's pumper was broken and the truck would not move.

"We were just plain lucky," Cameron said. The axle was replaced last night and the truck was ready for duty again today.

The rig was called out on a small fire yesterday afternoon and was driven up a steep drive. The axle was evidently damaged then, but firemen drove it back to the station with no difficulty.

Skin Divers Told Not To Trespass

Three enterprising youths, aged 14 to 16 years, wearing skin diving wet suits were warned yesterday not to trespass again in the lake at Peacock Gap Country Club golf course.

They explained to San Rafael police they were retrieving lost golf balls to sell to a practice range.

Paintings, collages and sculpture by San Rafael artist Florence Ludins Katz are being exhibited at Redwood National Bank, Fourth and E Streets, San Rafael, this month.

Gagarin Wants Lunar Record

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP) — Soviet cosmonaut Yuri Gagarin, the first man in space, has told a Czechoslovak newspaper he would like to be the first to land on the moon.

But "I have many competitors throughout the world," Gagarin told the newspaper Kulturni Tvorba in Prague, where he is vacationing.

Gagarin said he thought the first man would get to the moon within five years.

MELISSA BOUSSY
Wins second $500 prize

Coed Given Second Labor Scholarship

Melissa Boussy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henri Boussy of 121 Woodbine Drive, Mill Valley, has been awarded a second $500 scholarship, this time by the Marin County Labor Council.

The first scholarship, in the same amount, came from the California Labor Federation. She was one of 16 top students in a field of 1,317 in the state competition.

The top graduate this year at San Domenico School for Girls, Sleepy Hollow, Miss Boussy plans to attend University of California at Davis in the fall.

DAVID HUBER
For thrift, a reward

Thrift Earns Youth's Trip To Congress

Gardening, umpiring for Little League, and scrubbing floors in a beauty salon have earned David Huber of Mill Valley enough money to spend 10 days in Washington, D.C., learning the ins and outs of the capital and running errands for a congressman.

Fifteen-year-old Huber is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Huber of 245 Tamalpais Avenue. He is staying in Washington with Rep. and Mrs. Donald H. Clausen.

David will see the capital "inside and out" and run errands for the office of the congressman. He is to visit the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the State Department, Annapolis, and Arlington. En route home he will visit Newcastle, Del., one of the oldest towns in the United States, intact yet never restored.

Clausen encourages youngsters to save their money for such trips, reported Mrs. Huber. While David is visiting, there will also be a boy from Ukiah at the Congressman's home.

Apartments Permit Asked For Elderly

The Marin County Zoning Administrator Monday will again consider the use permit requested by the Marin County Housing Authority for a 30-unit apartment on Linden Lane between Montford and Evergreen avenues, Homestead Valley.

The administrator's meeting will open at 10:30 a.m. at the Civic Center. The hearing on the apartment, a project for senior citizens, will be held at 11:30 a.m.

At 10:30 a.m. will be a hearing on the Tamalpais Montessori Center's request for a permit to operate a school for about eight emotionally disturbed children at Toussin Street and Geary Avenue in Kentfield.

At 11 a.m. the administrator will hold a hearing on the county superintendent of schools' request for a permit to allow a school for 10 mentally retarded children at First and John Streets in Tomales.

Minister To Speak

Rev. Robert Carrington, pastor of Bethel Temple in Turlock, will be guest speaker today at a 7 p.m. dinner meeting at the San Rafael Elks Club, being given by the Marin County chapter of the Full Gospel Business Men's Fellowship International.

Kindness Repaid A Million-Fold

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Duncan Johnston, a jeweler, has been named heir to a $1-million fortune because he fixed the broken clasp of a handbag a lady brought him

Johnston, 67, fixed the clasp without charge at his store a quarter-century ago and as a result became a friend of Miss Blanche M. Sternheim, descendant of early-day San Francisco merchants.

"We knew she had some money, but we didn't know it was a million dollars," he said yesterday while telling how he and his wife took Miss Sternheim for drives in the country and asked her in for Sunday night dinners.

Miss Sternheim died May 21 at 86.

TV IN REVIEW

Television Star Gets Racehorse Rating

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —If you want to produce, direct, write or star in a television series, just about the nicest thing a network executive can say to you is: "You've got a good track record."

This is not the kind of track record set by Sammy Glick in "What Makes Sammy Run?"—although sometimes it helps—and it has nothing to do with galloping the 440 or the mile.

WHAT IT MEANS

What it means is that your past performances have been generally successful—or at least lately—and have earned you something of a pre-sold reputation, which a network considers one of its best guarantees for a reasonable chance.

A look at the three-network fall schedule of new shows offers illustrations of how valuable a good "track record" can be to performers, and how important it can seem to television organizations.

Over at ABC-TV, for instance, we find Dale Robertson turning up in another Western "Iron Horse," about a gambler who wins a train. Robertson is no Olivier, or even a Randolph Scott, but his track record as a past successful video Western star is solid.

MOORE CHANCE

CBS-TV is taking something of a chance in bringing back Garry Moore in his new one-hour series. Moore was immensely successful for a long time, but his former show ran down sharply in the ratings—especially after Carol Burnett left as a regular—and finally was canceled. Nevertheless his longtime track record was so impressive that CBS-TV is gambling again—and also on Moore's new approach.

Over at ABC-TV again, executives are taking a similar sort of gamble on Milton Berle, once television's greatest star, who is returning with his new one-hour series. After a long contractual tieup with NBC-TV, which paid him fabulously for services rendered to the industry in the past—his show sold a lot of video sets—he got back into the swim of things as a guest on variety and drama shows, and has proved to be highly durable. Whether his new series makes it or not, it is his track record that is providing the chance.

It seems somehow crude to use such a commercial term as "track record" in referring to the incomparable Jean Arthur, but certainly it was her splendid run of fine Hollywood movies that earned her the coming CBS-TV comedy series that bears her name, and stars her as a brilliant lawyer with an attorney son.

OTHER STARS

Others whose reputations and past performances helped them land key series roles include: Howard Duff in the "The Felony Squad," an ABC-TV cops-and-robbers sries; Phyllis Diller and Gypsy Rose Lee in "The Pruitts of Southampton," an ABC-TV comedy about a rich family that goes broke; Imogene Coca in "It's About Time," a CBS-TV comedy about two astronauts who fly back through the ages to the prehistoric era; Tammy Grimes in an ABC-TV comedy, bearing her name, about a madcap girl, and Robert Lansing and Dana Wynter in "The Man Who Never Was," an ABC-TV spy series.

Theatrical properties can have good track records too—earning pre-sold reputations by being successful in the past in various forms—and the coming season has some of these too:

There is NBC-TV'e "Tarzan" series; and ABC-TV's "Shane," based on the great Western film; and "The Green Hornet," an ABC-TV enterprise drawn from the comic strip era of the past. In all of these endeavors, the name of the property is better known than any of the actors playing the parts.

Cat Fanciers Slate Show For Holiday

The king and queen of the cats will be crowned again when the Marin County Cat Fanciers holds their third annual pet cat show Sept. 4 at the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross.

The contest is open to all "just plain cats," regardless of lack of pedigree. The winners will receive cat-size crowns as king and queen.

In addition to the pet cat show, there will be a competition for pedigreed kittens, which last year attracted 90 kittens from throughout California. This will be a complete cat show in miniature, with all-breed, shorthair specialty and longhair specialty divisions.

Stan Goldgberg of Sausalito will judge the pet cats, each of which will receive an award for its most distinctive quality. Runners-up to the king and queen will be crowned duke and duchess, and the pet kittens judged best will receive crowns as prince and princess. There will be other prizes in color competition.

Deadline for entries is Aug. 20, announced Henry Siefer, president of Marin Cat Fanciers.

Judges of purebred kittens will be Louise Travasso of San Jose, all-breed; Doris Weston of Pleasant Hill, longhair specialty, and Jean Quiner of Hayward, shorthair specialty. Pedigreed kittens will receive special trophies, rosettes and ribbons in all recognized breed and color divisions.

Information may be obtained from Siefer, 10 Oak Springs Drive, San Anselmo.

Ed Wynn Estate Split Among Kin, Friends

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor Keenan Wynn, 49, has inherited most of the estimated $290,000 estate of his father, comedian Ed Wynn, who died June 19 at the age of 79.

The will, dated Aug. 22, 1961 and probated yesterday, also left $5,000 each to five grandchildren and a friend; $2,000 to a niece, and $1,000 each to a sister-in-law, his niece's two children and his daughter-in-law.

One-Armed Bandit Provides Practice

County commissioners ordered the sheriff to destroy a confiscated nickel slot machine, so Gonzales used it as the target for his machine gun practice.

Sandy Inches Closer To That 30-Game Mark

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Last season was Sandy Koufax's best and since he's winning games at a faster rate this season he must be pitching the best baseball of his life, right?

Wrong.

He's having trouble with his control, he doesn't trust his curve and he's not throwing as hard as he used to. At least that's what he was saying last night after he had pitched the Dodgers to a 4-2 win over the New York Mets.

The Mets, victims of Koufax's 16th victory, were unimpressed. They managed eight hits off the Dodger lefty and though they got him into hot water by loading the bases in the fourth inning, Sandy bailed out by striking out Ed Bressoud.

Later, Bressoud homered, but there was nobody on then and the lead provided by Lou Johnson's three-run, first-inning homer stood up.

"The last two weeks I've had a little trouble with my control," Koufax moaned after the game. "Especially the curve ball. It wasn't too good tonight. I just don't trust it. It doesn't feel right. And it just seems to me I haven't thrown as hard as I have in the past." Ho hum.

Elsewhere in the National League, Philadelphia knocked San Francisco loose from first place with a 5-0 victory, Pittsburgh became the new tenant of the top spot by pasting Chicago 10-4, Cincinnati split a pair with St. Louis, winning 9-2, then losing 7-9 and Atlanta beat Houston 7-6.

In the American League, New York beat Kansas City 5-4, Minnesota took Washington 3-1, Chicago edged Cleveland 2-1, Detroit knocked off Baltimore 4-3 and California went 10 innings to beat Boston 3-2.

Koufax, who is making his second serious bid in as many years for a 30-win season, is two days ahead of last year's 26-win pace. The hardest time of the year is yet to come, though. Last season, he went three weeks in August without a victory.

The Pirates got into first place by two percentage points with exactly the same assets that got them close — hitting, hitting, hitting. Jose Pagan, with a bases-loaded triple, Roberto Clemente, with a three-run homer, and Donn Clendenon with a two-run shot provided the power. Bob Veale got his 11th victory.

Cincinnati won the first game played under the tutelage of Interim Manager Dave Bristol, who took over for the dismissed Don Heffner. Gordy Coleman drove in three runs and Jim Maloney picked up his 10th triumph. In the nightcap, Dal Maxvill drove in four runs and Lou Brock hit a two-run homer to give the Cards the edge.

Joe Torre hit a ninth-inning homer with Mike de la Hoz on first to give Atlanta the win. The Astros had gone ahead in the seventh on a three-run homer by pinch hitter Felix Mantilla.

Giants Find Themselves In Strange Place: 2nd

Duffers Can Pick Up Bad Habits From TV

A recent story in a national magazine interested me strangely. Sports Illustrated is concerned with slow play on our national golf courses. "Perils of Paralysis" on our links is the burden of their anxiety. In other words, wooden Indian golf.

TO ME, THE paralysis is infantile. It is a lot of doddering old gaffers always looking for a golfing elixir of youth behaving like a bunch of Little Leaguers trying to copy Stan Musial's crouch or Willie Mays' basket catch.

What has happened is that they have seen big-time golf on television where 90 per cent of the action is caught on the green where 90 per cent of the action is inaction.

Golf isn't watchmaking. Putting isn't diamond-cutting. A $2 Nassau doesn't warrant holding up 17 other foursomes all day long. At least, Jack Nicklaus can say he's taking his time for $25,000. The gang at Sunny Strokes is playing for nothing more than their cockeyed egos.

I HAD OCCASION to take out a young friend of the family to Riviera, a course that has been good to me, the other day—a boy who normally plays the public courses where he stands in line in dew up to his ankles every morning to get to play and where he might get paired with one guy who can break 96, and where lost balls and duffers are a way-of-life.

I thought it would be a treat for him to play a private course, particularly one as beautiful as Riviera. He had to be at work at 5:30 o'clock for the night shift, 20 minutes away. I thought a tee-off at 1 o'clock should give him enough time.

YOU KNOW HOW many holes we got in? Thirteen. We got behind two fivesomes, managed to play through one but sat around most of the afternoon watching the other one putt out. The magazine contends fivesomes play as fast as foursomes. Uh-uh! Not on your life.

This one spent five hours on the golf course, four and one-half of them on a green. They putted as if the Grand Slam was at stake. We figured on one hole they took 19 putts. At least it seemed that way. They MARKED 18-inch putts! (Well, why not? We saw Arnie do it on "Challenge Golf" only the other Sunday, didn't we?)

THE STEPPED off their putts, marked them, rubbed off imaginary spots. They appeared to have an uncanny facility for getting their approach shots right at the apron of, but not on, the green. At any rate, the flag would remain in for the first five putts. Then the flag would come out and the five would mill around like cattle in a thunderstorm for about five minutes for the deadly business of "Who's away?"

Then would start interminable putting. I assumed they were long-standing members and therefore unassailable and the fact I had paid $14 for 13 unrewarding, not to say galling, holes of golf by no means entitled me to yell, "For God's sake, hit the damn ball!" But I can see those guys circling putts in my sleep.

MY YOUNG FRIEND got to work on time but never got to the final five holes on time. I guess he'll go happily back to his municipal course. But, as for me, I have a dream: In it I see this guy winning the Masters on TV with a gross 50 and he's a guy who runs up onto the green, looks quickly to make sure there isn't a dog or a rabbit in his way and then quickly runs down 40-footers all over the place to take only 18 putts in 18 holes. A new idol like this to imitate is the is the only thing that can save our game and will prove out the Murray slogan: "The only thing that should be slow on a golf course is your watch and your backswing."

Additional Trout For Bon Tempe

Trout planting crews from the Department of Fish and Game this week planned to stock Bon Tempe Reservoir in Marin County, and Upper Kelsey Creek and Anderson Creek in Lake County with catchable-size rainbow trout.

Fisherman are reminded that this schedule is subject to change caused by weather and water conditions.

Juan Vs. Bunning In Tonight's Game

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The San Francisco Giants are in second place today for the first time in 31 days.

The Philadelphia Phillies knocked All-Star game winner Gaylord Perry out of the box yesterday with a four-run fourth inning and went on to win 5-0, while the Pittsburgh Pirates dropped the Cubs. This put the Giants two percentage points behind the Pirates in the tightening National League race.

The Phillies, now six games back, were helped to victory by the smooth pitching of right-hander Larry Jackson, who scattered five hits. Jackson is now 8-7, but he's won seven of his last nine starts.

Perry, now 12-2, was gunning for his eighth victory in a row and seemed to have things well in hand until the fourth.

He started his own downfall by walking Tony Gonzales. Clay Dalrymple tripled him home with a drive off the right-field wall and scored on Cookie Rojas' double. Dick Groat beat out a chopper to Perry for a single and Rojas scored when Perry threw wildly to first.

Perry, who volunteered to pitch, saying that the two innings he hurled in the All-Star game Tuesday had not tired him, gave up the mound to Joe Gibbon. Bob Priddy, Bill Henry and Lindy McDaniel followed Gibbon, and the Phils managed only one hit off the four relievers.

Tony Taylor, who had singled off Perry, got home after a wild pitch by Gibbon in the fourth, and errors by catcher Tom Haller and first baseman Willie McCovey gave the Phils an unearned run in the seventh after Bill White singled with two out.

The Giants planned to call on their ace, Juan Marichal (14-4), to oppose the Phils' top pitcher, Jim Bunning (9-5), tonight.

49ers Report To Moraga Tomorrow

MORAGA, Calif. (AP) — The San Francisco 49ers open their 1966 training camp at St. Mary's College tomorrow when 21 rookies and 24 veterans report in the first wave.

Of the 19 remaining veterans, 15 check in next Wednesday and four more on July 24 after performing military reserve duties.

The one notable exception could be quarterback John Brodie, who wants lots more money than he's being offered. He's supposed to report Wednesday but as of right now, he's in Honolulu.

A few more veterans remain unsigned, according to a spokesman for the National Football League club, but they have not been named.

Brodie supposedly was offered $750,000 to jump to the Houston Oilers of the American Football League. That lucrative deal was killed when the two leagues merged.

The first wave consists of rookies and less experienced veterans, with the exception of Bruce Bosley, the offensive center, and Karl Rubke, who mans the sparsely populated defensive end position.

One of the reasons that position is not fully manned is the College All Star game in Chicago the night of Aug. 5. The 49ers' No. 1 draft choice, defensive end Stan Hindman of Mississippi, will compete there along with other 49er rookies, defensive back Alvin Randolph of Iowa and offensive tackle Dave McCormick of LSU.

These three rookies will report Aug. 6. The 49ers play their first exhibition game the next day against the Dallas Cowboys in Kezar Stadium.

TOMORROW IN BERKELEY

A-A Meet On Tap

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — America's top track and field stars compete tomorrow and Sunday to demonstrate among themselves what they'd like to have shown the Poles and the Russians.

When Poland withdrew from its scheduled meet after the United States team had already assembled in Berkeley this week for the dual meet, an All American Invitational was submitted for the University of California's Edwards Track Stadium.

"This is a challenge," declared U.S. men's coach Stan Wright. "We want to show them what we can do."

INVITED STARS

In addition to the men's and women's teams selected for the international meets off performances in the AAU championships, the field includes stars invited especially for the All American. Included is the Trinidad mile relay team with three of the four members who placed third in the 1964 Olympics' 1,-600 meter baton passing race.

Men's events on the Saturday program starting at 2:30 are the pole vault, javelin, 100-meter dash, 110-meter hurdles, 400 meters, triple jump, 10,000 meters, discus, 3,000-meter steeplechase and 400-meter relay.

Women will compete in the long jump, 100 meters, high jump, shot put, 400 meters and 400-meter relay.

Bob Seagren, the 19-year-old from Glendale, Calif., who twice has cleared 17-5½ feet for a pending world record, heads the pole vault field. Paul Wilson of Downey, Calif., and John Pennell of the Southern California Striders, each have cleared 17-1.

TOP RACE

The 400 meters could shape up as the top race of the day with the addition of two runners from Jamaica—Ed Skinner and Kent Bernard. They'll be running against Lee Evans, the 19-year-old from San Jose, who surprised by winning the AAU title, Theron Lewis of Southern University, Bob Frey of Los Angeles and Vince Matthews of New York.

Charlotte Cook of Los Angeles the 18-year-old who set American records in the quarter and half-mile races, rates as the favorite in the 400 meter event for the gals.

The meets slated against Russia in Los Angeles next week and Poland at Berkeley this weekend were cancelled by the two Iron Curtain nations in what they termed objections to the U.S. war action in Viet Nam.

Cerrudo Wins Again In Trans-Miss Golf

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Two rematches hightlighted quarter-final play today in the 63rd Trans- Mississippi Golf Tournament at Edina Country Club, with San Rafael's Ron Cerrudo one of the top contenders.

Marty Fleckman of Houston and Bob E. Smith of Sacramento, Calif., faced each other for the third time in match play in a major amateur tournament.

Smith had won both earlier matches, beating Fleckman 1-up on the 21st hole in the third round of the 1964 Trans-Miss and 1-up on 18 in the 1965 Western Open, which Smith won.

All eight quarter-finalists are either college players or recently graduated from college. They average 21½ years of age.

Fleckman was 11 under par for 33 holes yesterday in beating Michael Morley of Minot, N.D., 4 and 3, and Ralph Schlicht of Madison, Wis., 2-up.

Cerrudo beat Gene Christiansen, Minneapolis, 5 and 4, and then downed Tom Jenkins, Houston, 3 and 2.

Smith beat Carson Herron of Minneapolis, 6 and 5, after Herron had ousted defending champion George Boutell of Phoenix by the same score.

Wiechers had to rally from being two holes down with four to go against Ras Allen of Dallas in yesterday morning's round. Wiechers won the last four holes to beat Allen 2-up.

The semifinals are tomorrow and finals Sunday.

Machen Wins Unanimous Decision

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Old pro Eddie Machen gave 21-year-old Jerry Quarry a boxing lesson last night when he scored a one-sided decision at the Olympic Auditorium.

The 34-year-old veteran, 193, of Berkeley, piled up an early lead by pounding the previously unbeaten heavyweight in the first few rounds. He had Quarry, 187, Bellflower, Calif., hanging on at the end.

Quarry never landed a good pinch and found it impossible to figure out Machen, who has previously tackled the likes of Sonny Liston, Cleveland Williams, Zora Folley and Floyd Patterson.

Judge George Latka scored the fight 6-5, Referee Tommy Hart had it 5-4 and Judge Larry Roazdilla agreed with the UPI card, which had it 7-2 for Machen.

Marin Girls Trying For Yacht Win

A crucial weekend is in prospect for the two Marin Adams Cup racing chews, who will sail against two teams from Southern California in a four-race round robin series to be hosted by Richmond Yacht Club.

Hoping for a place in the Women's North American Sailing Championships, which will be held in San Francisco Bay Aug. 28-Sept. 1, with San Francisco Yacht Club, Belvedere, as host club, are 18-year-old SFYC skipper, Susie Wosser and Pat Jacobs, captain of the Corinthian YC entry.

Coming from the south for the two-day series are Betty Sanches, skipper, representing the Yacht Racing Union of Southern California and Shirley Hoffman, skipper, representing the Southern California Yachting Assn.

Susie Wosser, who won the Bay Area quarter-finals two weeks ago, will go into the semis with Suzi Mitchell and Terry Pritchett Lewton crewing. A year ago the two Sues were crewing for Ricki Treacy when the SFYC team went to Balboa for the Adams semi-finals. Skipper Wosser has invited Ricki to be her alternate this time.

Race Winner Is Guest Speaker

Driver Don Wester, winner of the sports car race at Cotati Sunday, will speak at a meeting of the Tamalpais Porsche Club of Marin at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Bank of Marin, Fifth Avenue and B Street, San Rafael.

The club also will elect officers. Further information about the club can be obtained from Gene Babow, 116 Laurel Grove Avenue, Kentfield.

The FISHIN' FOOL

By RALPH STEVENS
I-J Fish and Game Writer

Beautiful Graylings Have Been Added To Aquarium Collection

STEVENS

I saw a great many graylings Tuesday in a tank at the S.F. Aquarium. How come? Well it was like this: I received a letter from the office of Dr. Earl S. Herald, Associate Director of the Steinhart Aquarium, inviting me to the Aquarium to meet the Canadian Government Travel Bureau representative on behalf of the Province of Saskatchawan, and to inspect the handsome new collection of graylings presented recently to th Aquarium.

SO—I CAME, I saw, and I concurred with everything that has been said or written about this beautiful fish. Many years ago the grayling was described as follows: "There is no species sought by anglers that surpasses the grayling in beauty. They are more elegantly formed and more graceful than the trout, and their great dorsal fin is a superb mark of elegance. When the well lids were lifted and the sun's rays admitted, lighting up the delicate olive-brown tints of the back and sides, the bluish-white of the abdomen, and the mingling of tints of rose, pale blue, and the purplish-pink on the fins, they displayed a combination of colors equaled by no fish outside the tropics."

There is no question but what the grayling's immense dorsal fin is the crowning glory of this fish. It is dotted with large, brilliant - red or purplish - blue spots surrounded with a splendid emerald green.

COMBINING THE beauty of the grayling with his great fish-ability, one can't help but wish that the California Fish and Game Commission take steps to breed, raise and distribute them in some of our cool clear streams or lakes, like Tahoe, which maintain a temperature needed by the grayling.

Talking to the Canadians present who had caught and had eaten the beautiful grayling, I was told that he is a real gamester, that he will jump and roll when hooked like a rainbow or a steelhead, and that he is one of the tastiest of all fish.

WHY NOT make a mental reservation right now to pay a visit to the Steinhart Aquarium and look at the tank of graylings. Why not organize a group of fellow anglers and go together in a body. Call the girl with the sweet telephone voice, Phylis Ensrud, Dr. Herald's secretary, and talk it over.

I have visited many aquariums, from the Battery in New York City to the one-man collection at Monte Carlo, and none is superior to our own Steinhart Aquarium, and most are inferior. Which reminds me—Dr. Herald is anxious to obtain some octopi. He will welcome any word of where one or more of the eight-armed fish may be had. Or better yet, if you chance to see one during an abalone or clam hunt, capture it if possible for the Aquarium.

Pirates Take Over First Place

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Two percentage points aren't much, but Pittsburgh Pirate Manager Harry Walker says, "They're mighty fine, mighty fine."

The Pirates topped the Chicago Cubs 10-4 last night and moved into first place in the National League two percentage points ahead of the San Francisco Giants, who lost to Philadelphia 5-0.

Walker was all smiles, but cautious.

The Pirates have eight games left against Los Angeles and 13 against the Giants. The Pirates have beaten the Giants only once in five games this year.

The Pirates made the climb into first place mainly by virtue of an explosive hitting attack. They won 14 of 17 games prior to the All-Star Game break, averaging about seven runs and 13 hits per game.

The Pirates play three games against the Giants Sunday and Monday in Pittsburgh.

Walker is hopeful his bullpen will be well rested for the Giant series. Combined with last night's complete game from Bob Veale and the All-Star Game break Pirate relief pitchers had four solid days of rest.

The victory over Chicago featured an 11-hit attack paced by Robetro Clemente's inside-the-park home run and Jose Pagan's bases-loaded triple. Clemente's home run, his 14th, came with two on.

Donn Clendenon also clubbed his 14th homer in the fourth inning with Clemente on base.

The Cubs scored all their runs in the first and third innings, but Veale yielded only two hits the rest of the way for his 11th victory against five losses.

Pros Rip St. Paul Course

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — The touring golf professionals have always been tough on St. Paul's Keller public golf course, but yesterday they overdid themselves.

The field of 144 pros, scrambling for the $20,000 top money in the $100,000 Minnesota Classic with big guns like Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus, Gary Player and Tony Lema passing it by, swarmed over Keller like it was a miniature golf course.

Jacky Cupit set the pace with a six-under-par 65 over Keller's par 36-35—71, 6,702-yard course. Six others were breathing down his neck at five-under 66, including Gene Littler, Bert Yancey, Charles Sifford, John Schlee, Randy Petri and Steve Spray.

Tied at 67 were Phil Rodgers, Rex Baxter Jr. and Bobby Nichols.

Keller has been the host to the St. Paul Open for 30 years, but this year the tournament was renamed the Minnesota Classic.

"The fairways are the best I've seen them and the greens held up well through the rain they had here," said Cupit. "I probably hit the ball from tee to green better than I have all year and I think the fairways had something to do with it."

Cupit birdied six of his first 13 holes to go six under, then had to satisfy himself with parring out the final five holes. The 28-year-old Texan hit 17 greens and needed only 27 putts in his 34-31 round.

U.S. Open champion Billy Casper was among a dozen tied at two-under 69. Among those at 70 was Doug Sanders.

Big Contract For Kemp

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Jack Kemp, voted the American Football League's most valuable player last season, signed the largest contract ever offered a Buffalo Bills player today.

The AFL champions declined to reveal the salary terms but it was reported that Kemp, a quarterback, would receive between $40,000 and $45,000.

Kemp, who turned 31 two days ago, led Buffalo to AFL championships over his former San Diego Chargers teammates in 1964 and 1965. Buffalo acquired him from San Diego for the $100 waiver price in 1962.

Quarter-Finals Start In Clay Court Tourney

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—The National Clay Courts Tennis championships enter the quarterfinal stage today with top-seeded Dennis Ralston a little tired and third-seeded Charles Pasarell a little sore.

Ralston, who is seeking a third-straight clay courts crown, says he is from five to 10 pounds below his normal playing weight, and in need of a rest.

"I was tired at the Western Open and I still am," said the nation's top-ranked player. "I've had only four days without playing since the middle of April."

Third-seeded Pasarell, who advanced to the quarter-finals yesterday with a 6-3, 6-4 triumph over Turner Howard, Knoxville, Tenn., is playing with a strained back.

Top foreign seed, Tony Roche of Australia, is matched with Marty Riessen of Evanston, Ill. Riessen, seeded fourth, was extended Thursday by unseeded Jim Watson, San Francisco, 6-2, 4-6, 6-2.

No. 2 seed Cliff Richey meets eighth-seeded Stan Smith, Pasadena, Calif., in the remaining quarter-final game.

Rain which fell until early afternoon held play Thursday to a minimum. In the only other singles game, defending champion Nancy Richey moved into the semifinals of the women's division with a 6-0 6-0 victory over South Afirca's Maryne Godwin.

In the men's doubles, top-seeded Ralston and Clark Graebner, Beechwood, Ohio, defeated Pete Fisbach, New York City, and Armistead Neely, Tampa, Fla., 6-0, 6-2.

Public Links Medalist Is Ousted

MILWAUKEE (UPI) —A pair of jinxes, rain and a 23-year-old unemployed Kentuckian teamed yesterday to oust record medalist Arne Dokka from the 41st National Public Links golf tournament.

The jinxes-Dokka's status as medalist and as defending champion could have been enough for the 22-year-old Californian to fight. But George (Moe) Demling, who quit his job in a Louisville factory to participate in the U.S. meet, applied the finishing touches with his power hitting and pressure putting to score a 5-4 victory.

A steady rain fell throughout the morning round, soaking fairways and making greens slow and traps unpredictable. Demling, who was one under par for the 14 holes played in the afternoon, was the only par buster of the day.

He faced Monty Kaser, Wichita, Kan., in today's 36-hole semifinals. The other semifinal match found a 17-year-old Arizona high school June graduate, Donnie Powers, taking on University of Minnesota golfer Dave Ojala of Two Harbors, Minn.

Texan Among Golf Leaders

PARIS (AP)—Jackson Bradley of Houston was the only American player to finish among the leaders in the French Open Golf Championship. He wound up in a four-way deadlock for 10th place with a 283.

The Texan shot a 70 in the fourth round Thursday to go with earlier rounds of 73, 69, 71.

EXCITING EXPERIENCE:

Forging Rapids In A Rubber Boat

By GARY ARTOUX

Interested in making a really different type of vacation trip this summer to get away from it all? Try forging rapids and dodging jagged rocks in a rubber boat on a three-day trip down the middle fork of the Salmon River in central Idaho. Sound interesting?

For six adventurous Marinites who made the trip last week it was a thrill. Following Sen. Robert Kennedy, his family, and Astronaut John Glenn by one day, the group of voyagers set out for excitement in two rubber boats. Included in the group were James Flanagan of Loch Lomond, Jack Bosque of Novato, Kenneth Frey of Sleepy Hollow, and Dean Jennings, Wilson Fensler, and Grovisnor Farwell Jr. of Sausalito.

FIRST TIME

"We'd never done anything like this before," Jennings explains, "and we'll never forget it." The trip started with a flight to Boise, Idaho, where the challenged little group was to pick up two guides.

"Only problem," Jennings notes, "was one of the guides didn't show up and we took along a ranch hand instead."

As it turned out the ranch hand had never sailed in a rubber boat before, especially in rapids. "He would get scared every time he saw a rock," Jennings continued, "and he hit every rock he saw. It made things interesting." Jennings explained that early each day the six members of the expedition would cut cards to see who got to ride with the ranch hand that day and "have a thrill."

FEASTED ON TROUT

The rubber boats, laden with 35 pounds of provisions and two changes of clothing for each man, splashed down the 100 miles of rapids at an average speed of 15 miles an hour. The six travelers slept each night on a convenient river bank and feasted on 62 trout they caught during the trip.

"Everything is fly - in up there," Jennings said, speaking for the group. "You're really out of touch." He noted that the party had no idea Sen. Kennedy was on the river one day ahead of them until they saw a picture of him in a Boise newspaper in a rubber boat. "The rubber boat caught our eyes," Jennings explains. Farwell Jr., who is a Harvard graduate, was a classmate of the late President John F. Kennedy.

MORE PERILS

Having finished the 100 miles of water-way adventure, more excitement was in store for the group on land. Because a truck which was supposed to meet the group at the end of the trip to return them to civilization failed to arrive, their capable guide hired a youth to drive the group back to Salmon, Idaho. "Finally," Jennings recalls, "we had to abandon the kid—either that or die; he was taking corners on little cliffs at 40-60 miles per hour and on the side of the road it was straight down."

The group finally ended their joy ride in Shoup, Idaho, a one-horse town right on the Salmon River, Jennings pointed out. Eventually the six weary Marinites arrived in Salmon where the group hoped to rest after the journey and because there were no hotel rooms available the group had a peaceful slumber overnight at a rest home.

AIRLINES STRIKE

But no vacation trip is complete without a mishap. While the rest of the group flew off for San Francisco, Jennings remained in Boise to visit a wartime friend for a few days. When it was time to leave for the airport, he was informed the airlines were out of service because of the mechanics' strike. Seventeen hours later, Jennings disembarked in San Francisco from a bus.

But truly adventurous spirits cannot be held down. "It was a wonderful trip," Jennings said, "and we didn't see a newspaper or hear a radio for a week. We all hated to leave."

Next year, the same group of hardies plans to forge the rugged Illinois River rapids in southern Oregon. The trip will take five days and cover 45 miles of rapids and waterfalls. Sound like the ideal way to spend part of that prized two-weeks of yours?

200 MARIN ROBIN HOODS

Archers Go After Deer

By GARY TISCHLER

The California Robin Hoods will be out in the woods again tomorrow.

A special 16-day early archery season on deer opens tomorrow, affording archers a chance to test their skills against the wily deer without the added difficulty of having to compete with the game-scattering noise of rifle fire.

The special season ends July 31.

Deer hunters of the bow and arrow variety have often been derided because their percentage of kills is about as high as a Dodger batting average.

But for the past two years, the number of kills by archers has gone up. So has the number of archers. In 1964, 32,200 bowmen killed 346 deer. Last year, 25,500 archers nabbed 334 deer.

T/Sgt. Richard H. Fisher, a weapons instructor at Hamilton Air Force Base, has bagged 14 deer with his bow and arrows since 1950.

This year, about 200 Marin County bowmen are expected to take to the hunting areas.

John Perry of Novato will be one of them. He prefers a bow to a rifle any day.

"I love it," he said. "It's more difficult and more challenging. When I started using my bow, I got rid of my rifle."

Sgt. Fisher feels the same way.

"I haven't been rifle hunting for years," he said. "Too dangerous."

The special deer season will have a bag limit of two bucks, forked horned or better. Archers are required to have a bow that can cast a legal arrow up to at least 130 yards. The arrows must have a broadhead blade of more than 7/8 inches width. Explosive arrowheads are illegal.

The early season extends from Mendocino, Lake and Colusa counties in Northern California to Ventura County in the south.

Marin County Warden Al Giddings said that Marin hunters can hunt anywhere in Marin County ecept in areas that are designated as game refuges.

Inland areas will have a 10-day hunt in September.

Archers can use their deer tags to hunt in the regular season, if they can put up with the rifle toters.

Stationary targets, according to Jack Nichle, game manager for the State Department of Fish and Game, offer no real test when it comes to actually shooting at deer.

The principle, he says, is the same as the Army's known distance ranges as opposed to it's field firing ranges, which give a firer practice in target and range detection.

This lack of practice has been pointed out as a key factor in the fewer kills by bowmen.

Hit or no, they'll be out there tomorrow.

Would-be water speed record breakers will have to go easy on the throttle when entering the channel alongside Mariner Cove in the future, a meeting of the Mariner Cove Improvement Assn. was told Wednesday night.

Albert J. Boro, president, reported 5 miles per hour signs were posted at entrances to the channel with approval of the Coast Guard following complaints of boat speedsters.

Sohner Softballers Open Defense Of Tourney Title

Defending champion Sohner Tree Service and Hamilton Field are Marin's two entries in the Tri-County District Softball Tournament beginning this weekend at Santa Rosa's Burbank Park.

Fourteen of the top teams from Marin, Mendocino and Sonoma counties will be fighting for a berth in the State Softball Championship next month.

Hamilton Field plays the Sonoma Athletic Club in the first game tomorrow evening at 6:30 while Sohner meets the winner of the Hamilton-Sonoma tilt at 8 p.m. Sunday.

Hamilton Field gave notice it must be considered a contender when it split a recent doubleheader with Good Spot, one of the top teams in Sonoma County.

Although their season has just begun in the last few weeks, the Defenders can present a well-balanced attack which features the hitting and speed of Ken Brooks and Bill Blakley.

Sohner, often referred to as the Cinderella team in last year's tourney, is currently having its finest season. In competing in three different leagues and playing many of the top teams in Northern California, the Treemen have recorded 40 wins against only 13 setbacks.

Much of Sohner's winning this year can be credited to the pitching staff, notably Morey and Gary Swarm. The two brothers have accounted for 36 of Sohner's 40 victories. (Morey is 19-6 with a 1.09 E. R. A. and Gary has a 17-5 record and a 1.57 E. R. A.)

But whereas the excellent pitching has been a vital ingredient in Sohner's success, it has been the potent hitting attack that has far exceeded expectations.

In a game in which a .250 hitter is looked upon with great envy, the San Anselmo team boasts three .300 hitters and four other batters with averages exceeding .250.

Ed Schulze and Milt Hain, Sohner's answer to Batman and Robin, are clubbing the ball at .372 and .353 averages respectively.

And Ron McCamish (3.10), Gary Swarm (.289), Jess Munyon (.284), Earl Beyer (.272) and Ron Jerome (.251) have been adding greatly to the Sohner offense.

HOW TO PLAY!

1. Pick up a FREE Race Card each time you shop at any of these Allied Grocers' Stores. No purchase necessary. There is a new race every week. Cards are printed a different color for each week. Winning cards must match the proper color for that week.
2. Watch "Let's Go To The Races" in thrilling color every Saturday nite, KTVU, Channel 2, 7:30 to 8:00 P.M. Five complete races are shown. (First TV Races July 16.)
3. If the "WIN" number on your card is the same as the number of the horse winning that race, YOU WIN! Circle the winning number on your card, take it to your Allied Grocer, claim your cash prize.
